The Pittsburgh Gazette

FOR THE ACCOMMODATION OF PERSONS leaving the city during the summer months they can have the GAZETTE mailed to their address, by ordering the same at the office, for fifteen cents per week for one week or more.

THE New York Herald reports Gen. GRANT as saying that if he shall be nominated for the Presidency it must be without exacting pledges from him. We do not hold that journal to be the best authority on a matter of that sort. If, however, the General has taken that position, he has done no more than is unquestionably his privilege. Any citizen has a perfect right to give or withhold consent to be a candidate for office; or, consenting, to annex whatever conditions he may see proper. Any political party has the corresponding right to exact pledges, or, what is equivalent, to know precisely where an individual stands on essential questions before nominating him. We doubt not the Republican party will insist on being satisfied as to the opinions and purposes of the man it may make its presidential candidate before naming him.

THE BOSTON Advertiser contains a special from Washington which goes to confirm Mr. Judd's statement regarding the disposition of the Lincoln tablet from Rome. It states that after three days search the stone was found in a coal bunker in the cellar. The story given out that the stone was placed in charge of B. B. French, and by him placed under lock and key in one of the rooms of the Executive Mansion, is utterly untrue, as three unimpeachable witnesses who saw the stone in the cellar within two weeks, will testify if need be. The mark of disrespect paid to the memory of the martyred Lincoln by Mr. Johnson in thus disposing of the tablet calls forth censure from all right minded persons.

UPON the nomination of Mr. Sharswood the democratic organs made extravagant boasts as to his popularity even with republicans. If there ever was a basis for these pretensions, which we certainly doubt, that period has gone by. The Pottsville Journal says:

"There is now great probability that he will be opposed by numerous democrats who are not willing to trust him with great power. If his decision against the validity of "greenbacks" could be carried into practical effect, it would compel every man who owes a debt of any kind to pay it down in gold, no matter what the cost. It is no wonder, therefore, that Judge Sharswood is losing strength every day. We cannot afford to place a man upon the Supreme Bench who holds opinions so directly opposed to the public interest."

THE watering places are but poorly attended this summer. The votaries of fashion have either remained at home or gone to Europe. A writer in an Eastern journal thinks that the proprietors of the more popular places of summer resort have discovered that they have killed the goose which laid the golden eggs, by overcharging their patrons last season. It is certainly more fashionable to cross the ocean than to rusticate at home, and wealthy folks have found it to be more economical.

THE cause of temperance was never advocated by more friends in Ohio than at the present time. There are no less than ten thousand Good Templars in the Northern counties of the State. To-day a grand convention of the order will be held in Cleveland. Senator Wilson, of Massachusetts, will be in attendance.

THE National Base Ball Club of Washington, which has been traveling in the West, has met with triumphant successes everywhere. In a match game with the Atlantics of Chicago it scored 73 to 17. The National has been challenged by the Enterprise of this city, but an acceptance has not yet been received.

IN VIEW of the political excitement existing in Tennessee, consequent on the State election, which will be held next Thursday, the President has properly ordered the Federal troops stationed in Kentucky into that Commonwealth, for the preservation of order.

THE TELEGRAPH announces that a Board of Internal Revenue Commissioners will be named by the President for Pittsburgh; also, for each of the other principal cities. These Boards will have the same functions as that recently appointed for New York.

THE Paris Moniteur gives what seems to be an official denial of the war rumors which have been prevailing in Europe. The English doubt the sincerity of the denial, believing that France is not so peacefully inclined as she would have outsiders believe.

THE exports of petroleum from the United States so far this year have reached 32,286,385 gallons against 29,159,711 gallons during the same time last year. This shows an increase during this year of 3,126,674 gallons, or 78,161 barrels.

IT IS not improbable that the Constitutional Convention of New York will favorably report laws for the prevention of truantism, and making attendance at the Public Schools compulsory.

IT IS said that there is living in Zanesville, Ohio, an old lady of sixty five years, who still suffers from a severe beating received fifty years ago at the hands of her mistress.

A Horrible Disaster—Over One Hundred Men Buried Alive in a Coal Mine.

The columns of the European German papers are filled with the particulars of one of the greatest disasters that ever desolated any mining district.

On the 1st of July last the wooden framework of a thousand five hundred feet deep pit of a coal mine in the neighborhood of Lugau, in Saxony, gave way, blocking up with an impenetrable mass of timber and rock the pit at the depth of about three hundred ells from the top. At the moment of the disaster one hundred and two men, nearly all of them the supporters of large families, were working at the bottom of the mine. Their provisions were only calculated for one day. On the 5th of July, the date of our latest news by mail, the place where the fallen masses had stopped the pit was of such a solid structure that the water was standing on it many feet high. From all sides the most available help was offered, but the conviction that nothing could be done soon enough to save the unfortunate miners weakened, as it seems, any energetic efforts. They were doomed to die of starvation and want of fresh air. On the 4th of July all attempts to reach the bottom of the mine by any quick process were abandoned, and a slow but sure plan was devised, by which at least the corpses of the perished could be extracted. Iron tubes of about two feet in diameter were to be sunk through the obstruction down to the bottom of the pit. Among the dead are fourty-four married men, one of whom has a wife and nine living children. The scenes at the entrance of the pit are described as lamentable without a parallel. One hundred and thirty-seven children filled the air with their woeful cries, while the Superintendent of the mine, to whose negligence the disaster was ascribed by the people, could only be saved from being mobbed by his sudden imprisonment.

A Celebrated Paris Physician.

A Paris correspondent gives an interesting account of the late Dr. Trousseau, the celebrated French physician:

He talked, looked and acted wofully like a quack. You could not at first help thinking, "What a humbug he is!" When you became better acquainted with him, you saw his manners and appearance were only the overflow of a well-filled, well-trained, ever active mind. Dr. Trousseau was one of the few medical men who thought. There is no profession in the world where thinking is more frowned on than in the medical profession, which is one reason it makes so little progress. Inquiries into the nature of disease, its causes, the nature of drugs, the causes of their action, attempts to deduce the general laws of disease, are heterodox in that profession. Empiricism is the cardinal rule. Dr. Trousseau, like Dr. Ricord, thought for himself, and, thinking for himself, invented one of the most admirable surgical operations of modern times; tracheotomy, which removed croup from the fearful group of consumption, cancer, and other incurable diseases. It is simply as Columbus's egg. It consists in making an artificial aperture in the throat and inserting a silver tube; air is supplied the lungs below the diseased part, and the physician has time to apply specifics for its cure and await their action. Where Dr. Trosseau was most admirable was by the bedside of a patient. His diagnosis of the invalid mind, heart and body was miraculous, reached divination and the remedies he prescribed were fitted for that person and none other. One of the most remarkable diagnosis of Dr. Trousseau was given a gentleman whose name he did not know. The man was singularly robust, looked the picture of health—and yet: "Doctor I am not well. It seems to me my strength is failing me. A strange lassitude takes possession of me. I feel—I scarcely know how I feel." Dr. Trousseau kept his brilliant eyes riveted on the patient while the latter spoke and when he ended the doctor asked: "You sleep every day immediately after dinner?" "Yes I do, doctor." "Are unmarried, have no family, are ignorant of domestic life?" "True, doctor." "What you want is—not medicine, but—affection; domestic ties; something, somebody to live for—if you do not form these ties, if you do not give ailment to your heart, you'll be in your grave before eighteen months." The stranger smiled skeptically, laid 500f in gold on the doctor's table and retired. Fifteen months afterward Lord Seymour ('twas he) was buried. Armand Trousseau was not born with a silver spoon in his mouth. There is some obscurity veiling his earlier years. He was born at Tours the 14th of October, 1801. His sisters (if not his brothers) still live at Tours, and are highly respectable people in circumstances of easy fortune. He sent his only son to live on an estate in that city's neighborhood, which showed his protestations of attachment to his native place were not lip affection merely. He began life, some say, as usher; others, as teacher of rhetoric in a school, and when he had accumulated money enough to enable him to gratify the turn he had for medical studies he went to the medical school. He graduated in 1826. Five years afterward (I believe such rapid success unprecedented since Bichat's days,) he secured, although competitors were many and formidable, the place of physician to the hospitals, in a concours still remembered for its brilliancy. Six and thirty years of his life he gave to the poor. This charity is judicious selfishness. By the bedside of the poor he daily saw those innumerable cases which Bacon insisted were necessary to the establishment of any general law. He studied diseased Nature in all her forms, and learned to observe the effects of all the specifics given. Last year his health began to give way, and he resigned his chair in the Medical School. He was attacked with cancer in the stomach. Seeing his end not distant, he began to put his affairs in order. He had a vault made, and visited it a week before he died, to see everything was ready for him. An old patient came to see him, saying: "Doctor, I am unwell; do something which will enable me to attend to my business." Dr. Trousseau prescribed, and then added: "Physic is efficient, but will is more efficient still. Look at me. I shall be dead and buried in six weeks from now, and yet you see I attend to my business." Five days before he died he went to the undertaker's, and made every arrangement for his funeral, "because one's family, in the first moment of grief, cannot attend to these matters." He made a diagnosis of himself every day, and it was as clear and brilliant as if it was made of a stranger's disease. He would make his pupils place their hands on him, and he'd say, "You see the tumor is daily increasing in size; in three weeks—in a fortnight—in a week—to-morrow, there will be an end of me." He suffered greatly during the last hours of life, and asked a physician to give him a sub-cutaneous injection of morphine to alleviate his pains, and he delivered a brilliant clinical lecture on this specific and on sub-cutaneous injections. Seeing his last breath about to expire, he said, "Remember, above all—no pomp and no speeches at my funeral!" Then he died. Dr. Trousseau attained everything an ambitious man could ask from fortune, except the most valuable gift of all—happiness. This was denied him where 'twas most desirable—at home. His domestic life was most wretched.

Co-operation of Workingmen in Connecticut.

The Hartford Courant gives this account of a co-operative factory in Northfield, Ct.:

"Some twenty years ago a number of workmen in the knife factories throughout the State struck for higher wages, feeling sure that their employers received the lion's share of the profits. The demand was not acceded to. Instead of loafing around idle, and combining to prevent others from working, as it is fashionable now-a-days to do, these men—mostly English and Scotch—assembled and talked over the 'situation,' and concluded to go into business for themselves. One of their number reconnoitered, found an old unused mill on a little brook in Northfield, and made a bargain for it—five dollars a month, and the farmer who owned it was to take his pay in pocket knives. They counted up their 'capital,' and found it to consist in an even five dollars apiece, the fund of those who had only two or three dollars being pieced out by those who were the fortunate possessors of seven or eight. They appointed one of their number President of the company, invested this capital in the machinery required, bought their stock on time and went earnestly to work. They were generally sober and industrious—those who were otherwise dropping out of their own weight, and giving place to better men.

The business succeeded. The capital was largely increased. Dividends were declared. The profits, instead of being absorbed by one, were shared by all. The old shop was enlarged. The workmen capitalists gathered their families about them, and each built himself a snug white cottage along the road leading up the adjacent hillside. Some of the past officers have proved unworthy or inefficient, and the company has met its shares of mishaps, but the general result has been prosperity. The stock, largely increased, cannot be had for anything like par. The workmen, driven to think for themselves, are mostly Republicans; and they form as pleasant a picture of thrift, skill, sobriety and comfort as one would encounter in a week's travel. Several of the original proprietors are still found at the polishing wheel, and as each man has a personal interest in the excellence of the work, there are in the market no better or handsomer knives than those produced by the Northfield Knife Company. Why should not other workmen, of every craft, profit by this experiment?

—When the Lindell hotel, at St. Louis, was destroyed by fire, Col. Donaldson was stopping there, and had in his room a safe containing money and valuable papers, and a diamond pin valued at $1,000. On Saturday morning, July 20, the workmen who have been engaged in clearing away the debris, came across Col. D.'s safe and it was delivered to the owner. The contents were found to be uninjured.

—Speaking of the partiality of the bronchitis for the clerical profession, the Providence Journal says: "It rarely attacks a clergyman whose salary is less than $2,000, or whose congregation is not wealthy."

Execution of General Vidaurry—Maximilian's Counsel Arrested—Address of Escobedo to Imperial Subalterns, &c., &c.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

BROWNSVILLE, July 26, via New Orleans, July 29.—Advices from San Luis to the 15th instant give the following intelligence:

General Vidaurry was shot in the city of Mexico. He desired just before his execution to have an interview with General Diaz, which was refused. He then asked the privilege of seeing his son; but this also was refused.

M. Schaffer, Counsellor of the Emperor Maximilian, has been imprisoned.

The Liberal Generals arrested at Queretaro, who were not already shot, will be sent to their respective stations for trial.

General Marquez was levying prestamos in the capital until an hour before he left.

The Liberal government has decided that all the Imperial Prefects shall be sent into exile for six years, and their secretaries for two years.

General Escobedo made the following address to the subaltern officers of the Imperial army before releasing them: "The supreme government might dispose of the lives of those who, forgetting they were Mexicans, fought for a foreigner, elevated to power by the invader; but the government, always magnanimous, forgives those who until now have been enemies of their country, because it expects their future conduct will correspond with the clemency used towards them to mislead the sons of Mexico. You are at liberty and may ask your passport for any port where you desire to reside."

An Imperial soldier, taken prisoner at Queretaro, but since liberated, writes from Morelia that he had received good treatment from the officers of the Liberal army.

A specie train left Guadalajara for Manzanilla on the 3d. Several French prisoners, lately released, accompanied the train.

COLLEGE PROFESSOR DEAD.

Prof. Charles Anthon, of Columbia College, died to-day, aged 79 years.

FIGHT AMONG EXCURSIONISTS.

A fight occurred among an excursion party which went up the Hudson yesterday, on the steamer Wm. Titamere and two barges. One man was pushed overboard and drowned, two others stabbed and a large number injured. The fight lasted nearly all the time the party was absent, most of whom, including a number of females, were innocent spectators of the brutal scene.

HERALD LIBEL SUIT.

In the Supreme Court Judge Leonard overruled the motion of the counsel of Cummings, who sued James Gordon Bennett for alleged libel. The plaintiff had asked that the defendant's answer be made more definite. The Court declared it definite enough. This will probably be fatal to the case.

VESSELS AT AUCTION.

The Government steam cutters Cuyahoga and Miami were sold at auction to-day, the former for $31,500, and the latter for $7,400.

UNADILLA BANK FAILURE.

It is stated the liabilities of the Unadilla Bank are not less than a quarter of a million, while some estimate them at over a million. It is feared the depositors will not receive ten cents on the dollar. A Receiver from Washington has been applied for, and will probably arrive in a few days. Great distress prevails about Unadilla. One woman, a widow, became crazed by her loss. Another attempted suicide.

SUICIDE OF A WOMAN.

This morning Mrs. Emily Mix, wife of an esteemed citizen, committed suicide by throwing herself into the Hudson. She had taken laudanum, and was undoubtedly laboring under mental aberration.

FATALLY INJURED.

Dexter H. VanOstrand, of the firm of Dodge & Van Ostrand, was thrown from a carriage on Saturday night, and fatally injured, dying before morning.

ATTEMPTED BANK ROBBERY.

An unsuccessful attempt was made to rob the Citizens' Bank on Saturday night.

Shipping Intelligence—Demand Duties—Peruvian Independence Celebrated—Markets.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

SAN FRANCISCO, July 29.—The United States gunboat Mohican arrived to-day. The ship Rattler, for Hong Kong, carries eight hundred and five thousand dollars in treasure and about seven thousand barrels of flour. The Ellen Southard cleared for Liverpool with twenty-eight thousand sacks of wheat.

The demand duties for the past week were two hundred and three thousand dollars—since January 1st, four million two hundred and sixty thousand.

The forty-sixth Anniversary of Peruvian Independence was celebrated in the city by a display of the flag of the Republic on the principal public buildings. A national salute was fired from the batteries.

The Alcatraz, Saranac, and Jamestown hoisted the Peruvian colors. The Waganda fired a salute.

Feverish Excitement Consequent Upon Apprehended Election Riots—Conflicting Proclamations.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

MEMPHIS, July 29.—A feverish excitement, incident upon the apprehended riots at the coming election, have been very much augmented by proclamations from different authorities. On Saturday Sheriff Winters, at the request of a number of citizens, issued a call for fifteen hundred men to keep the peace on that day. This morning Mayor Lalland issues a proclamation asking Winters to revoke his order, and stating that he has assurances from General Thomas that he will be here with a regiment of regulars; also that General Forrest has agreed to take the command of two hundred volunteers to act in concert with the Superintendent of Police Beaumont. The latter also issues a proclamation this morning warning the Sheriff against calling out a posse, and threatening him with the "boys in blue."

UNION PACIFIC RAILWAY, E. D.

[Special Correspondence Pittsburgh Gazette.]

PITTSBURGH, July 12, 1867.

GENERAL SUBJECT OF ROUTES DISCUSSED.

In a former letter I stated the fact that the Union Pacific Railway Company, Eastern Division, had resolved to carry the main line of their road to the Pacific, not directly across the Rocky Mountains, through Utah and Nevada, and over the Alpine heights of the Sierra Nevada range, but by a more southwestern route through the southeastern part of Colorado, east of the Rocky Mountains, thence through New Mexico and Arizona to the southeastern border of California, and thence through the great valley of Southern California to San Francisco.

This important change of route will be attended by many and great advantages, the chief of which, probably, is, that the tremendous snow drifts of the route directly through the mountains will be avoided. Another is, that the more Southern route is level compared with the other. On the line of the Central Pacific Railroad, running from Sacramento to Salt Lake, the Sierra Nevada Mountain summit is seven thousand feet above the level of the sea, which is one thousand feet greater elevation than any other railroad summit in the world; and the Rocky Mountains cannot be surmounted by any pass between the Rio Grande and the heads of the Missouri at much if any less altitude. On the other hand, on the line through New Mexico, Arizona and Southern California, there are no formidable mountain barriers; and where the elevation is considerable, as in the pass of the Sierra del Mimbres, west of the Rio Grande, there is no snow. The Sierra Nevada on that route has sunk down almost to a plain, and up through the magnificent valley of Southern California, celebrated for its extraordinary productiveness, there is no difficulty, neither is there any difficulty between the Sierra del Mimbres range and the Colorado river, which space embraces the entire breadth, from east to west, of the territory of Arizona.

The country through which this more southern route runs is all valuable—very much is rich in soil, and still more, especially in Arizona, is rich in minerals of almost every kind. It is a region of vast and varied productions, but one which never can be properly developed until a great line of railway shall connect it with the States on and east of the Mississippi, and with the cities of the Pacific coast. But when so connected and made easily and quickly accessible, will give an impulse to our national prosperity beyond anything known in our past experience.

I have no inclination to depreciate the bold enterprise of our California brethren in pushing a railroad from Sacramento across the Sierra Nevada range into the rich mining state of Nevada. Their energy demonstrates that, although in choice of routes they may find it necessary to traverse the dreary and serpentine valley of the Humboldt to reach the region of Salt Lake, the great work will still go on, conferring immense material benefits, and generously rewarding them for their outlay. Nor am I at all inclined to underrate the other great work of making a road from Omaha, up the valley of the Platte, and over the Rocky Mountain range, to the great valley of the Utah; for this too will be a road the value of which it would be difficult to estimate; for over it Southern Dacotah, Idaho and Utah, at least, can be reached. But as to the value of the country over which each will pass there is no comparison. Alexander K. McClure, Esq., editor of the Chambersburg Repository, who went up the U. P. Railroad of the Platte in May last, thus characterizes the valley of that river:

"There are but few settlers on the line of the road; and after we enter what is called the Platte Plains, about Fort Kearney, there seems to be little that can ever invite the husbandman. The valley or vast plain is bounded on every side by vast bluffs, ranging from twenty to thirty miles apart, and the bluffs seem to be terribly sterile and repulsive. The Platte river rolls lazily along south of the railroad, hugging the southern bluffs at times, and again striking out near the centre of the valley; but it tires the eye to look at it and its surroundings. It is a murky, shallow, treacherous stream, with shifting sand for his bed, and naked banks skirting it most of the way. I have looked for miles along its banks without seeing so much as a shrub, much less a tree; but at times, where it nears the bluffs, it puts out along its banks a stunted, miserable growth of cottonwood. * * * The valley is a miserable waste, and I fear ever must be. * * * I have not found a single stream in it but the Platte river—the whole plain thus far, north of the river, not furnishing a single tributary. * * * There is not a habitation on the route for nearly two hundred miles, but such as are necessary to accommodate the railroad and travel."

An intelligent gentleman of close and accurate powers of observation, who, in the summer of 1859, travelled leisurely across the continent to California, furnished the author with an extended and minutely graphic description of the country over which he travelled, to wit, the valley of the Platte, the mountains North of Denver, the basin of Utah north of Salt Lake, the valley of the Humboldt, and thence to the Sierra Nevada—very nearly the route of the Union Pacific Railway of the Platte and that of the Central Pacific Railroad from Sacramento to Salt Lake. Upon reaching the eastern base of the Sierra Nevada range, under the head of "General Remarks upon the Region travelled," he said:

"The country passed over from Fort Laramie to this place is good for nothing, unless I except Bear River Valley; and that is said to be too cold for agricultural purposes. Certainly it is good for nothing else. With the exception of that about Bear river the land is generally poor and rocky. The low bottoms on the head of the Humboldt are rich; but there we had ice before the middle of August; and from that down it is too dry, even if it would otherwise do. Then there is no timber, except a little on the main range of the Rocky mountains, till we come to Bear River, and none from that, except a few scrubby cedars, until we come to the Sierra Nevada mountains. The Indians live on it, but how no one knows. And then nine-tenths of this extensive region are mountains. I do not believe that it will ever be anything but what it now is."

It is manifest that a road through such a region must be mainly dependent upon its through business for its revenue. Yet the enterprise is a good one; for by no other could the Black Hill country, Southern Dakotah, the great Salt Lake valley, and the head of Lewis River, which runs through the best part of Idaho, be reached. But whether it is destined ever to be a safe and reliable route to California remains to be seen. How its managers are to cope with the tremendous difficulties, topographical and climatic, towards which they are driving with unprecedented speed, and with a boldness which, in the eyes of ordinary men, borders on recklessness, is a question not yet solved.

Since the managers of the Union Pacific Railway of Kansas, with a forecast eminently wise and prudent, have resolved to seek the shores of the Pacific by a more southern line, strictly speaking there is no longer any rivalry or competition between these two great national enterprises. Each will develope the region through which it passes, be its natural value what it may; and both may reach the bay of San Francisco, one approaching it from the northeast, through Northern California, the other from the south-east, through Southern California. The one will render Utah and Nevada accessible, and probably be the means of rooting out the social abominations existing in the former territory; the other will bring the beautiful plains and valleys, and the innumerable mines of gold, silver and copper of the more southern range of States and territories within easy reach of the great body of the American people. And whatever may be the amount and value of the through trade of the latter, whether more or less, its way business cannot fail to be enormous. Although but little more than half way through Kansas, it is already profitable, as I have heretofore shown, both to the government and the company; and I now intend to show that there is not likely to be a section of a hundred miles on the entire route but will contribute handsomely in some shape to its revenue and support. I now come to speak more particularly of

THE ROUTE BEYOND KANSAS.

Pond Creek, the point to which a number of the gentlemen of our party extended their excursion, is two hundred miles west of Fort Harker, or the valley of the Smoky Hill, and four hundred and twenty-five miles west of the Missouri river at Kansas City. It is one hundred and eighty-seven miles southeast of Denver, and four hundred and two miles northeast of Santa Fe. It is to this point that the government subsidy of bonds to this road, granted by act of Congress, extends. It is within some six or eight miles of the eastern line of Colorado, and a little nearer to the southern line of Kansas than the place of beginning.

Of the country through which the road passes in the State of Kansas, I have already spoken so fully that I need not advert to it here. At Pond Creek the southwestern line leaves the line to Denver—now being located, (and which is by no means abandoned)—and passes over a rolling buffalo-grass prairie "divide" to Fort Lyon on the Arkansas, a distance of about sixty five miles. An extensive district of very good agricultural land lies around Fort Lyon. Leaving Fort Lyon, the line follows the valley of Purgatory river, in a southwest direction over 120 miles—still through a buffalo-grass region—to the eastern base of the Raton mountain, which is covered with a heavy growth of valuable timber, and abounding in coal of superior quality, some of the veins being from eleven to thirteen feet in thickness.* Skirting the eastern base of this mountain for over one hundred miles—the mountain being on the right and the vast and fertile plains of northwestern Texas on the left—passing Fort Union, the great distributing depot for government supplies for all the South west, the line turns more to the west, and reaches the Rio Grande at the town of Albuquerque, seventy-five miles south west of Santa Fe.

NEW MEXICO.

Near the head of Purgatory River the line enters the territory of New Mexico, after having run about two hundred miles diagonally across the southeast corner of Colorado—the most fertile portion of that territory, in which there are extensive deposits of coal and forests of pine timber. New Mexico has an area of 121,201 square miles, nearly two-thirds of which lie east of the Rio Grande, which bisects the territory the entire distance from North to South. The northwestern quarter of New Mexico is among the most rugged and mountainous regions on the continent, but rich in minerals. The entire eastern portion is comparatively level, being the most western portion of the great fertile plains which slope towards the Mississippi and the Gulf, and are drained by the more southern tributaries of the Arkansas, the Red River and some of the larger streams of western Texas. The southern half, from Albuquerque to the southern boundary, is a country of diversified aspect, made up of hills and valleys. The valleys are exceedingly fertile and peculiarly adapted to the culture of the vine. Wm. Hall, in his valuable work, "Guide to the Great West," remarks:

"The valleys and slopes in the eastern section consist generally of very productive land, the soil in this part being adapted to the culture of sugar." Again he says: "Cotton of good quality is grown in the Southern part of the Territory; and the wine of the region, from Socorro, or even to Albuquerque, to the Texas line at Franklin, or the Mexican line at El Paso, is celebrated for its fine quality. Peaches are excellent and abundant in the southern part of the Territory."

There is probably no portion of North America so well adapted to the rearing of sheep as New Mexico. Already millions are found there; and were there a communication by rail their numbers could be indefinitely increased. While out beyond Fort Riley I saw many Mexican wagons, with large bodies, loaded with wool, not in sacks, but in bulk. These wagons were unloaded into warehouses at the railroad stations. Just as hay is thrown loose into a barn and tramped down. I examined some of this wool and found it to be of very good quality. As it requires at least two months for one of these wagon trains—each wagon drawn by four yoke of oxen and attended by two men—to make the trip from Santa Fe to Junction City, the expense of carrying this wool cannot be less than one hundred and fifty dollars per ton. With heavier return loads, and more ascending grade, it takes three months for these Santa Fe trains to make the return trips.

But, after all, the great value of New Mexico is in its mineral treasures, gold, silver and copper. Discoveries of rich mines of gold have recently been reported but the information is yet too vague to warrant more than a general mention of the fact. Bituminous coal exists in great abundance on the eastern slopes; and near the Old Placer gold mine, twenty-seven miles southeast of Santa Fe, and but a few miles from the contemplated route of this road, ANTHRACITE COAL has been found. Of this Mr. Hall says:

"The coal bed at the Placer Diggings is very accessible and easily worked, measuring from four feet eight inches to four feet ten inches in thickness, and is generally very free from earthy or other impurities. It seems to be a true Anthracite, not semi-bituminous, but is as destitute of bitumen as the Pennsylvania variety."

Crossing the Rio Grande at Albuquerque, the line of the road pursues a western course over the Sierra Madre; (or, as some maps have it, the Sierra de los Mimbres,) and enters Arizona about midway between the northern and southern boundaries of the Territory. But of that important Territory—containing, probably, more mines of gold, silver and copper than any other portion of our national domain of equal extent—I propose to speak in my next letter.

*Since my return home I received a letter from a gentleman in St. Louis, stating that Mr. Sanderson, proprietor of the Santa Fe stages, had brought to that city some specimens of excellent bituminous coal which he took from veins of from eleven to thirteen feet in thickness, which crop out on the slope of the Raton mountain, 70 miles southwest of Pond Creek, on the natural route of the Union Pacific Railway of the Kansas. It is hardly possible to estimate the value of such a coal mine in such a locality.

NICOLSON PAVEMENT.

To the Honorable, the Select and Common Council of the City of Pittsburgh:

In pursuance of resolution of Councils, passed on the 25th of March, 1867, the Street Committee have had under consideration the practicability of using the Nicolson pavement in this city, and respectfully make the following report:

The subject of the change of pavement being one of great magnitude, and involving the interests of all the citizens, your Committee deemed it advisable to make a thorough investigation and thus fully instruct themselves before making a recommendation for any change, or by supineness retarding what might eventually be a great public improvement.

With this view they have proceeded to the cities of Chicago and St. Louis, where the Nicolson pavement has been in use for many years, and thus by actual inspection demonstrating its durability, the collection of statistics giving its cost, advantages and disadvantages, and mingling with the authorities and citizens of those cities, and from disinterested parties gathering information, we are enabled to present this report, which may be deemed reliable, and thus enable the gentlemen of the Councils to determine as to the practicability and propriety of making this change.

On our arrival in the city of Chicago we were kindly received by Mr. E. S. Chesborough, Chief Engineer of the Board of Public Improvements, and Mr. J. K. Thompson, Superintendent, and by those gentlemen every facility was afforded us to prosecute our investigations.

The first pavement of this kind laid in the City of Chicago was in 1856, when eight hundred square yards were laid on Wells street, and so satisfied of its advantages have the people become that there had been laid up to December, 1866, two hundred and forty-two thousand five hundred and sixty-seven (242,567) square yards, or about eight and a half miles of eighty feet streets.

DURABILITY.

This portion of Wells street is subject to very heavy and continuous travel, being in close proximity to one of the bridges crossing the river and leading to the Galena Railroad. An examination of this pavement was made in 1859, after three years wear, by taking up a portion, with a view to determine as to the expediency of laying more of it. Mr. Reuben Cleveland, late of the Board of Public Works, in his testimony before the United States Circuit Court, states that the blocks had been worn down only three-sixteenths of an inch per year. This street was again examined in 1865 (ten years from the time of its first construction) and blocks taken therefrom, and this gentleman testified that they had only been worn down one and a half inch, and were perfectly free from rot and sound in all respects. It was wholly taken up in this year, the street being raised to a different grade, and in the opinion of the Chicago officials, it would, if allowed to remain, have been serviceable for two or three years more.

COMPARATIVE DURABILITY.

Your Committee were desirous of obtaining information as to its durability when compared with a stone pavement, all conditions being about equal. An excellent opportunity was offered on Washington street, Chicago, where one block is laid with Nicolson and the adjoining one with block stone. Both were laid together in 1857. They are now worn out, the stone having been frequently repaired is in much the worse condition, whilst to the wooden pavement no repairs have been made, and if any difference exists it has been subjected to a greater amount of wear.

The Nicolson pavement laid in this block was done by way of experiment to test the comparative durability of the different woods. The blocks were of oak, which have thus been found to be much inferior to pine.

In the city of Saint Louis, a similar observation was made, one half of a square being Nicolson and the other half, running side by side, McAdamized, and both laid together. Whilst the wooden pavement is smooth and in excellent condition, no repairs having been made, the McAdamized has been repaired about once a month, and it is at present almost unfit to travel. This pavement has been down one year, and the McAdamized portion is to be at once taken up and laid with Nicolson pavement.

A still further and probably better opportunity was presented in South Water street and Central Avenue, South Water being at the North side and Central Avenue at the West side of the Depot grounds of the Michigan Central and Illinois Central Railways, and bearing all the heavy hauling of both roads. They were both paved the same season, 1862, South Water with block stone and Central Avenue with Nicolson pavement, and are both in bad condition.

The block stone pavement has been frequently repaired, while the Nicolson has not cost the city anything, and would cost less to put it in good condition than would be required to repair the block stone pavement. Another feature in these two streets, the block stone has a width of fifty feet, while the same amount of travel is confined to a width of thirty-two feet on the Nicolson pavement.

These comparisons have been made from actual observations. We would present one fact as taken from the record. In 1855 East Lake St., Chicago, was laid with a cobble stone pavement, similar to that now in use in our own city. It was entirely relaid in 1859, and in 1861 was declared to be a nuisance, and was then replaced by the Nicolson, and after six years wear it is now in good condition, during which period it has never been repaired.

From these comparisons it will be observed that the Nicolson pavement is the most durable. A subject for consideration in the investigation is its ECONOMY.

Doubtless the first cost of the Nicolson pavement will be greater than that of the cobble stone, but it becomes us however to consider are these advantages to repay this outlay.

From the testimony of our own Street Commissioners, it would appear that the cost of repairing our streets is about equivalent to their being relaid once in three, or to say longest period, four years, thereby doubling the original cost in that time—besides the annoyances of the unevenness and trouble of constant repair.

Another item to be considered in this connection is the cost of cleaning. In this city during the past year the sum of $20,000 has been expended for this purpose, our streets at the same time being frequently in very bad condition, and necessarily so. It is estimated that the cost of cleaning would not be more than one-half, or $10,000, the saving thus effected would be the interest at six per cent. on an original investment of over $166,000.

In discussing the question of economy, a consideration of moment presents itself to our citizens. The great saving in the wear and tear of vehicles and prevention of injury to freight. The perfection of its surface conforms to the perfection and nature of the wagon wheel. The iron of the wheel, if perfect, is everywhere equi-distant from its hub, and rolling over this pavement its axle is carried in a parallel plane, while on the cobble or block stone pavement they are thrown out of this plane every four to eight inches, rendering the wheel practically little better than a sixteen sided polygon on a flat and even surface. There can be no doubt than the rough uneveness of our present style of pavement increases the wear and tear of tires and runners at least seventy-five per cent.

Again, how often have our merchants the mortification of finding much of their freight destroyed and thereby great expense entailed upon them by their drays and other vehicles having to pass over the rough uneven surface of our cobble stone pavements. This would be entirely remedied had we the smooth even surface of the Nicolson. With reference to the great saving of our horses it would seem unnecessary to speak.

Every persons knows the great strain upon horses, caused by the present style of pavement, and how quickly they become worn out and useless. We have not time nor space to enter upon an argument of this question, but will content ourselves by quoting from the Scientific American, competent authority upon this and kindred subjects. It says, "that the Nicolson pavement would save over 50 per cent. of the wear and tear of horses and vehicles, as compared with the stone pavement." These figures must, of course, be to a great extent conjectured, but that there can be no doubt that a very great amount is saved to the citizens in these particulars, and that this item alone, during the ten years allowed as the medium duration of this pavement, would undoubtedly place a large sum to the credit of this over any stone pavement which has been used.

Another consideration, and not to be lightly estimated, is the large increase of load which can be drawn by the same amount of power on this pavement.

The unequal surface of the cobble stone presents great difficulties in the draught when compared with the smooth and even surface of the blocks, combined with the firm foot hold which is here secured.

The same authority before quoted represents this saving to be at least 50 per cent.

ITS SANITARY QUALITIES.

The Sanitary condition of our cities is a topic well worthy of consideration and one which is now occupying the minds, not only of the medical men of this country, but of the whole civilized world. We can of course, not being skilled in the study, offer no opinions of our own that would be worthy of consideration, but having in our investigation paid some attention to this matter, we offer the opinion of some medical men.

The cobble stone pavements allow the free infiltration of water and decomposed vegetable matter, which thus escaping the evaporative power of the sun and air, still undergo other changes and exale in the form of poisonous miasmatic. But by the construction of the Nicolson pavement and the complete coating of coal tar, it is impervious to moisture and this prevents this infiltration and obviates their miasmatic exhalations, and by the use of the Asphaltum and Coal Tar, the streets are provided with a lasting and valuable disinfectant.

Chas J. Jackson, M. D., Assayer to the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, says in reference to this pavement:

"It not only does away with muddy streets and makes a clean and comfortable roadway, but it also obstructs the rising of pestilential emanations from decomposing vegetable matter in the soil, but also chemically, if Coal Tar is employed in the composition, the pheric acid of coal tar being one of the best known antiseptics, meeting and decomposing any malaria that may come from below." A. H. Hayes, M. D. Consulting Chemist and State Assayer of Massachusetts, bears similar testimony.

Dr. Blaney, the eminent Professor of Chemistry in Rush Medical College, has given his opinion that the chemical elements found in the tar are powerful disinfectants, and correctives of petrefactive exhalations. This opinion was approved by Drs Ranch, Powell and Hay. This, together with its cleanliness, should, we think, have some effect in recommending it to your approval.

INCREASED VALUE OF PROPERTY.

The great cost of the Nicolson pavement is more than counterbalanced by the increase in value of property before which it is laid. In the city of Chicago this fact is clearly demonstrated by comparing the value of lots on Michigan and Wabash avenues—the natural advantages in favor of Michigan avenue, it running for a long distance parallel with and near to the lake shore, Wabash avenue being one block further west. Lots on Wabash avenue of the same depth and frontage as others immediately in the rear of them, but fronting on Michigan avenue, were sold at public auction at an advance of 40 per cent. over those on Michigan avenue. Lots fronting on a street paved with the wooden blocks are meeting with a ready sale, both for private residences and for business places, the business men greatly preferring the quiet street to the endless din and confusion of the noisy stone pavement.

Let any business man, having to rent an office or store, consider for a moment how much more rent he would pay for said office or store provided the owner would free him from the brain racking noise of our cobble stone pavements, and an approximation as to whether the extra expense of putting down the Nicolson would be a paying investment.

T. B. McMILLAN, W. R. FORD,
THOS J. GALLAHER, W. E. BOGGS,
THOS. S. SLOAN, D. O'NEILL,
HENRY E. WHITE, Committee.

Mr. O'Neill moved that the report be published in the various city papers. Adopted.

The Chairman read a communication from Messrs. H. M. Bose & Co., of the First ward, in regard to the condition of the Allegheny wharf in the vicinity of their establishment. The communication was accepted and referred to the Allegheny and Monongahela Wharf Committees, with instructions to abate the nuisance in case it still exists.

Mr. Reed presented a communication from the Board of Health, asking for an appropriation of fifteen hundred dollars to aid in abating nuisances. Referred to Finance Committee, with power to act.

Mr. Reed also presented a communication from citizens of Second and Eighth wards, in regard to filth and dirt being deposited on Bluff street. Referred to Committee on Streets.

Mr. Ford offered the following resolution, which was read three times and finally passed:

Resolved, That the Street Committee be authorized to grant permission to any parties who may desire to lay down the Nicolson pavement, at their own expense; Provided, that when two continuous blocks are laid the city shall bear the expense of paving the intersection, as is now done in the case of the original paving of streets.

The Chairman read a petition from Messrs. Cummings, Cherry & Co., requesting permission to construct a railroad switch from the Pittsburgh, Columbus and Cincinnati Railroad from Fourth to Try streets. Referred to the Committee on Streets.

Mr. Rebman offered a resolution instructing the Controller to certify his warrant on the Treasurer in favor of Edward Allen for $850, in full for constructing a sewer on Market street, and charge Contingent Fund. Referred to Finance Committee with power to act.

On motion adjourned.

The Deckers Again.

The controversy going on in our papers concerning the Piano question, which is watched with eager interest by our own citizens, is also attracting attention in the metropolis of our country, as may be seen by the following article, which we copy from the New York Art Journal, of Saturday last. It is well worth perusal:

THE PIANO WAR INCREASING.

The spirit of the Father of lies seems to have entered the bodies of Piano agents throughout the country, for they appear to have lost all decency in controversy, and to have utterly abandoned truth in their public statements. There are some noble exceptions to this charge, but they are few and far between. The bitterness of the war carried on between the agents of rival piano-forte manufacturers, in the large outside cities could hardly be believed in New York. The matter is taken up personally, the lie direct passes backwards and forwards without hesitancy, and the works of the various makers are abused with a freedom and a vehemence which lead us to believe that the law of libel has become a dead letter, when such disgraceful quarrels are ventilated to the public's disgust.

The latest example of such proceedings we find in the furious warfare now waging in Pittsburgh, Pa., between the former and present agents of Decker Brothers, the eminent piano manufacturers of New York. As far as we can learn by the published documents, Messrs. Hoffman, Hoene & Co., of Pittsburgh, were deprived of the agency of the Decker pianos, for the reason that they did not fulfill their engagements promptly, which is a sufficient reason in these uncertain times. Up to that period, Messrs. H., H. & Co. proclaimed to the public at large that the civilized world presented nothing so faultlessly angelic as the Decker pianos, and that all other manufacturers were contemptible bunglers beside them. But no sooner were they dismissed from their position than, presto! they announced that the Decker pianos had fallen off greatly, that they were inferior, and that as Hoffman, Hoene & Co had not been born with silver spoons in their mouths, and wished to act honorably, they had adopted the pianos of Marschall & Mittaner, of New York, and had given their pianos the place of honor! Ah! Messrs. Hoffman, Hoene & Co., you must have a spoon among you now, at any rate, if you suppose the public will do anything but laugh at your cool impertinence and your brazen impudence.

This sudden change of opinion indicates anything but an honorable purpose. Either they speak very falsely, now that they can get no more of the Decker Pianos, or they spoke very falsely when they sold them, as agents. Either way, their present course of conduct is perfectly indefensible. Hoffman's partner writes him from New York: "no matter about the momentary inconvenience of a change of base!" A momentary inconvenience, when that change of base involves the dishonor of eating your own words, the base defamation of the business of a firm of unimpeachable integrity, and the exhibition of yourselves as interested turncoats, utterly unworthy of belief. This ought to prove more than a "momentary inconvenience," if justice is fairly meted out by the public.

This firm, with the accommodating conscience, say they proposed to "run" the Decker piano as a cheap instrument, knowing at the same time that the wholesale price list of every class of the Decker piano is from one hundred to one hundred and fifty dollars higher than the same class of instruments from Marschall & Mittaner, who make a cheaper, but at the same time, a most excellent instrument—one worthy of confidence, and a bargain if purchased at the makers' and not at the agents' prices. Knowing these facts, they publish that it was their intention to have sold the Decker piano (which they could get cheap,) and to "run" the others as high priced instruments, intending thereby, to draw from one to two hundred per cent. more than their legitimate profit, out of the pockets of their customers. These gentlemen may have honorable enough intentions, but these are not made clear by their present mode of business.

An advertisement row could not very well go on in any part of the country unless the Steinway interest was duly represented. Consequently their agent in Pittsburgh rather sides with the cause of Hoffman, Hoene & Co., for the reason that wherever the Decker pianos are known, their's stand but a poor chance of sale.

With regard to the barefaced assertion of Messrs. H., H. & C., that the pianos of the Decker Brothers have deteriorated in quality, we do from personal observation pronounce it an unqualified falsehood, trumped up to serve a questionable business end. We have examined and thoroughly tested these instruments during the past year, and up to the present date, and state without hesitation, that the Decker Brothers' pianos, always beautiful, always faithfully and splendidly made, are to-day equal in all, and superior in many points to any they have before produced. One special point of excellence, admitted by all the best professors of New York, is the admirable and uniform quality of all their instruments, arising from the thorough and conscientious workmanship in construction. We believe there is no better square piano in the world, and we congratulate Mr. Mellor for having secured the agency of the firm, and the firm for having secured the services of a gentleman so highly respected.

With regard to Messrs. Hoffman, Hoene & Co., we have only to say that they have photographed themselves, if we may so call it, in their writings, and that all they have to do now, is to give some explanation about those silver spoons, to which they allude in one of their communications.

A beautiful cut of the decoration pertaining to the Legion of Honor of France with which the piano king Chickering was honored by the Emperor of the French will be found in another column, together with a cut of the heavy gold medal awarded the same gentleman at the great Paris Exposition.

Police Items.

FELONIOUS ASSAULT.

Ellen Divers yesterday made information before Alderman Strain, against Robert Black, charging him with felonious assault. She alleges that on Saturday evening the defendant, who resides next door to her on Prospect street, in the Seventh ward, shot at her twice with a revolver with the intent to take her life; that one of the balls from the pistol entered the mantle piece in her house and the other lodged in the door cheek. It appears from the statement of the prosecutrix that a difficulty has existed between the Divers and Black families for a year or two, and that this young man, Black, had taken the matter in his own hands and intended to put one of the Divers out of the way regardless of law. But this like all other stories has two versions, and we were fortunate enough to get a statement from a friend of the accused, which we give as "the other side." It appears from this side of the case that there has been a difficulty in the families, but the defendant denies having any intention to injure any of the Divers family. He admits that he shot the pistol, but that instead of shooting it at any one, fired at a target and the ball, if it entered the mantle piece as stated, must have passed through an inch pine board, used for a target, and then through a board fence. A warrant was issued for his arrest, and when he has a hearing we suppose the facts in the case will be brought out.

ASSAULT AND BATTERY CASES.

Jimmy Thompson keeps a tavern near Cork's Run, and Jimmy is not the man to let a friend depart from his premises without a "drap of the crather," if his friend has a dime in his pocket and is willing to exchange it with Jimmy for a drink. On the thirteenth instant a party of Jimmy's friends had collected, when George Durent made his appearance, and got into a difficulty. He came before Alderman Donaldson yesterday and made information for assault and battery against John Caughey, John Thompson, Daniel McGrabey, John Land, Margaret Thompson, Margaret Couley and Charles Gallagher. He alleges that on the night of the 13th inst., he and some friends went to the tavern kept by Thompson and called for the drinks. There they found the defendants assembled. Some difficulty arose between the prosecutor and the proprietor, when the latter assailed the former with a handy billy and the rest of the defendants joining in the attack, the deponent was driven out and chased away, all his pursuers being around with billies, ax handles, &c., he cutting and beating him pretty badly. The defendants were arrested this morning and held for a hearing at two o'clock on Wednesday afternoon.

Dr. Stephen Stefano, of France, who has an office on Cecil's alley, made information yesterday before Alderman Strain against Mrs. McKenna. He alleges that Mrs. McKenna, who occupies a part of the house in which he has his office, attacked him on Sunday, tore his shirt entirely off him, and otherwise abused him. Another Joseph and Mrs. Potiphar case, but in this Joseph has the "first swear." A warrant was issued for the defendant.

Eliza Nesbit yesterday lodged an information against Christian Story, before Alderman Strain. She alleges that Christian struck her a violent blow on the arm, on Sunday, and attempted to throw a heavy clothes press upon her. A warrant was issued, upon which the defendant was arrested and held in three hundred dollars for a hearing. The parties reside on Ferry street in the First ward.

Fred Munn appeared before Alderman Butler yesterday, and made information against Mary Fanner. The parties reside on Pennsylvania Avenue, and Fred alleges that Mary threw water on his children. A warrant was issued.

Henry Faas made information before Alderman Strain yesterday against Jeremiah Wilder. The parties reside in the First ward, it appears use a bake-oven jointly, and on Saturday the wives of both parties wanted to use the oven at the same time. A dispute arose between them, which was taken up by the husbands, and the result was a fight, from which this suit originated. A warrant was issued upon which Wilder was arrested and held in the sum of three hundred dollars for a hearing to-morrow.

Margaret Duffy made information yesterday, before Alderman Butler against Peter Green. She alleges that Peter attacked her on the street on Sunday, and beat her in a shameful manner, without the slightest cause or provocation. A warrant was issued for Peter.

Henry Hall appeared before Alderman Strain, yesterday, and made information against William Craft. The parties are occupants of the same house, in the Tenth ward, and it appears they got into a quarrel about the use of the hall or passage, on Sunday, which resulted in a fight, in which Craft came off victorious. He was arrested and held for a hearing to-morrow.

Matthias Danner made charge before Alderman Thomas yesterday, against Mary Manns, a daughter of Fredrick Manns, for assault and battery. Danner alleges that the defendant pulled his little daughter's hair and otherwise abused her, also that she did it through the encouragement of her parents. She was held in three hundred dollars for her appearance at Court.

FALSE PRETENSE.

Matthias Danner made information before Alderman Thomas yesterday, against Fredrick Manns for obtaining six hundred dollars from him under false and fraudulent representations. The prosecutor alleges that last February he rented from defendant, a shoemaker shop and fixtures, at No 223 Penna. Avenue for six hundred dollars, Manns promising at the time of the bargain that he would leave for the country and would give Danner his custom, good will and everything else pertaining to the establishment. He further alleges that Manns did put up a building on another part of the lot and did start a shoemaking business in opposition to him contrary to his bargain. He was held in five hundred dollars for his appearance at Court.

HELD TO BAIL.

In our issue of yesterday we noticed the arrest of three men in the store of Palmer, Anschutz & Co., on a charge of larceny. The case being a peculiar one we omitted publishing the names of the parties arrested, which are as follows: L. Upton, Charles Simons and James Brown. Upton was employed in the establishment, and had a key to the storeroom, and it was through him the others were admitted. The parties had a hearing yesterday before Mayor McCarthy, and were held to bail for their appearance at Court.

Lawrenceville Council—Special Meeting.

A special meeting of Lawrenceville Council convened last evening. Present—Messrs Burger, Hart, Sill, Anderson, Meanor, Weisenburg, Watson and Burgess Buffum.

The Burgess stated that the meeting had been called for the purpose of hearing the report of the Plan Committee, and also to take action on matters relating to the coming State Fair.

On motion of Mr. Anderson, the report of the Plan Committee was accepted.

Mr Anderson moved that Messrs. Sill and Weisenberger be appointed a committee to call upon the citizens interested in the opening of the proposed new streets, to ascertain whether they desired one or two opened.

Mr. Watson moved to amend by authorizing the Burgess to appoint the committee. Carried. Committee: Messrs. Weisenberger, Meanor and Watson.

Mr. Anderson moved that the people along the lines of St. Mary's avenue and Centre street, be allowed to construct a sewer at their own expense. Laid on the table.

Mr. Hart offered a resolution instructing the Street Committee and City Regulator to look into the matter and report at the next meeting. Passed.

The Burgess presented a communication from the officers of the State Fair, asking the privilege of laying water pipes from the city line to the Fair Grounds.

On motion of Mr. Sill, the request was granted conditionally that the streets be left in the same condition as they were before putting down the pipe.

A committee consisting of Messrs Weisenberger, Meanor and Burger was appointed to confer with the Pittsburgh Water Committee with regard to a supply of water for the borough.

The complaint of citizens of Fairview alley in relation to stagnant water pools, was referred to the Street Committee, with instructions to report at next meeting.

An ordinance was presented by the Borough Regulator for the widening of Borough street from the Allegheny Valley Railroad to the Allegheny river, and for the grading and paving of the same. Read twice, and Mr. Anderson objecting, went over under the rules.

The Solicitor was instructed to prepare an ordinance for the enforcement of the paving of sidewalks.

Mr. Anderson moved that the Street Commissioner be directed to give notice to all persons not having their side walks paved, to do so within thirty days, or the same would be done by the borough authorities at their expense.

The Street Committee were instructed to have the remaining iron gutter crossings put down as soon as possible.

The action of last meeting in relation to Chestnut street was reconsidered.

A Committee on Printing, consisting of Messrs. Anderson and Sill, was appointed.

Adjourned.

Come to Grief.

Officer Buchanan, while standing on the corner of Fifth and Liberty streets, on Saturday night, heard a row in the Diamond, and on proceeding to the place found a crowd of twenty-five or thirty men standing near Dickey's saloon, talking and yelling in a very disorderly manner. Jimmy Dean was the ringleader, and was "spilin" for a fight. As the officer approached, the party all went into the saloon, but in a few moments came out again, and Dean recommenced his cuttings-up in a still more emphatic manner than before. The officer then arrested him and locked him up after some resistance. Yesterday morning Jimmy demanded a postponement of the hearing until he could summon witnesses. He was accordingly locked up until nine o'clock this morning. This morning the case assumed a still worse form for him than before. The witnesses he hoped for did not come, but others did come who testified that on the night in question the defendant seized a horse that was standing in the Diamond and rode it furiously around, and when the owner remonstrated, Jimmy raised the disturbance that led to his arrest, threatening to do all sorts of violence to the man whose horse he had been riding, and ending up by declaring he could whip any man in the Diamond. The hearing resulted in the defendant being required to pay ten dollars and costs, in default of which he was sent to the Hill for ten days.

A Misstatement.

In yesterday's edition we published a police item under the head of "larceny by bailee," in which Charles Green was prosecutor and Peter Bell defendant. We stated the facts as we received them, but having since heard the other side of the story, which entirely exonerates Mr. Bell from any blame in the matter, it is due to him to publish it also. The statement is as follows: A bet was made and the money, forty dollars, placed in Mr. Bell's hands, and the bet was to be decided by "Bell's Life." So far the statement was correct, but it appears that Green was not the winner, but the loser, and consequently had no right to claim the wager. The man who won the bet resides in New Castle, Pa., and being entitled to the money, Mr. Bell is in honor bound to pay it to him whenever demanded. It is also stated that this is the second information Green has made against Bell on the same charge. He should not bet if he does not expect to pay when he loses, and perhaps it would be safest not to bet under any circumstances.

Accident.—A serious accident occurred at the Plow Works of Hall & Speer, Manchester, by which Wm. Luther, an employee in the establishment was severely injured. He was at work about some of the machinery which was in motion when a large drum burst, a piece of which struck him on the side, breaking three of his ribs, and otherwise injuring him. He was taken to his residence on Chestnut street, where his injuries were properly attended to by a physician. His injuries, although of a serious character, are not necessarily fatal.

ATTITUDE OF THE DEMOCRACY.

For thirty years the democratic party was virtually supreme in the United States. In the main, it put up and put down whom it would. It did more. It changed both its measures and its principles as its listed. What it denounced one year as unsound, dangerous, and intolerable, it accepted ten years later as most wise, beneficent and desirable. These mutations continued until it ceased altogether to be what it was, and became entirely what it had previously despised. Amid all its changes and vagaries it managed so to pander to the prejudices and passions, the animosities and hatreds of the hour, as to maintain an assured and augmenting majority. In this sense is was the people. It was the many. A long career of prosperity inflated its pride. It became arrogant, haughty, imperious. In the plenitude of its power, it thought it might do what it would, and that none could successfully call it to account, or dispute its right to govern—much less degrade it from its high eminence into the lowly condition of a powerless and abject minority. This infatuation was its ruin. Believing that it had a charmed life, which no arrows of Fate could pierce, and that there was a sorcery in its name that would continue to enchant its followers when the substance had totally exhaled and floated away into the receptacle of departed things, it entered into conspiracy, first with Slavery and afterwards with Treason, confident in the expectation of substituting its behests in the place of Conscience, and of giving its decrees the force of public law.

It would naturally be inferred that the events of the last few years would have abated to a large and wholesome degree this insufferable egotism. Never was a party more absolutely abased and reprobated by an outraged and indignant people. Not only have its measures been discarded and its principles been contemned, but its real leaders are resting under a weight of popular odium altogether unmatched in this country, if in any other. Successive appeals to the ballot-box have disclosed no indications of a reversal of the great and solemn verdict rendered in 1860. On the contrary, there are multiplying signs that the judgment pronounced in the autumn of that year will be repeated in 1868 with increased emphasis.

Still, the democratic journals and orators retain their old habit, and swagger away as if actually under the conceit that they are the people, whose rights in the government have been temporarily usurped, but will be speedily vindicated. They remind us of debauched and pauperized cadets of ancient and honorable families, who are swollen with pretensions for which they have nothing to show but the names of ancestors they disgrace, and traditions of illustrious deeds which they dishonor.

It must be confessed, however, that while there is a repulsive side to this medallion there is also a ludicrous one. When vanity survives the power or disposition to perform great actions; when empty boastings proceed from hopeless senility; one knows not whether to let play the laughter of derision or to let fall the tear of compassion.

THE JUDICIARY.

Since the nomination of Mr. SHARSWOOD, by the Democratic State Convention, for a seat upon the bench of the Supreme Court, most of the Republican journals throughout this Commonwealth have felt constrained to review a decision made by him in 1864, in the District Court of Philadelphia, denying the constitutionality of the Legal Tender Act passed by Congress, upon which the financial credit of the government is built, and on which reposes in a large degree the private interests of all citizens engaged actively in business pursuits. These criticisms have in the main been pertinent and in good taste; have been urged, not in a sensorious temper, but with a proper regard for his personal character and professional standing. Yet, it has pleased the Democratic journals, almost with one consent, to allege that these criticisms have been carried to such unreasonable excess as actually to drag the Judiciary into what they denominate "the mire of politics."

We remember to have read much, in the same vein, in these journals, when Chief Justice Taney, in dealing with the Dred Scott case, traveled out of his way to lug in the abominable dicta that black people had no rights that white ones were bound to respect; that is, that any white scoundrel might rob or murder any black man, or rape any black woman, with absolute impunity; and the indignation of decent folk was fired, and sharp criticisms were showered upon the head of the offending magistrate. In reply, the democrats insisted that the critics were dragging the Judiciary into "the mire of politics," when it was the Judiciary that was creating a political cess-pool, and wallowing in it shamelessly, to the astonishment of the whole civilized world.

And this lead us to remark that whenever a politician delights in that slang phrase "the mire of politics," you may be certain he so manages his participation in political affairs, as to furnish room for the inference that politics are nasty. "It is a dirty bird that fouls its own nest." If this class of individuals would only let politics alone, the whole stream thereof would run clear almost immediately.

The fact is political matters are the highest earthly concerns of all human beings. Like the atmosphere they press upon each person at all points, and touch his most vital interests, pecuniary, intellectual, moral and religious. Courts are only parts of the grand political machine. They are neither worse nor better than the other parts, except that being more irresponsible, they are, in periods of declension, most conveniently used to establish or prop injustice or despotism.

Necessarily, many questions of purely political character come before the Courts. Thus, in 1863, the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania decided that it was unlawful to draft men into the military service. That decision was hailed with joy by all citizens of the State of questionable loyalty, and was applauded by the rebels as eminently wise and conservative. It was in accordance with the opinion given in 1861, by Attorney General BLACK to President BUCHANAN, that no power was granted in the Constitution to coerce a State. If Mr. AGNEW had not been elected to the bench in the nick of time, that decision against the legality of a draft might have been followed by most serious consequences.

In 1864 two of the three Judges of the District Court of Philadelphia were Republicans; the other a Democrat. This last was Mr. SHARSWOOD. When judgment was rendered in the Legal Tender case, the two Republican Judges maintained the constitutionality of the paper currency. Mr. SHARSWOOD gave a dissenting opinion. When the case was decided in the Supreme Court, two Democratic Judges sustained the view of Mr. SHARSWOOD, but were overruled by their fellows on the bench. It is easy to see that the political affiliation of all these Judges influenced their judgments. We do not say that either of them was corruptly actuated. So far otherwise, we conjecture all of them acted conscientiously. Their opinions were respectively controled by the political systems in which they were grounded. So much is inevitable. Hence it is not a matter of clap-trap to subject the political affinities of judicical candidates to the same scrutiny that is properly brought to bear on the political opinions of aspirants to other offices. Nay, it shows that if electors are wise they will not simply demand of candidates for judicial honors adequate legal learning and due experience in the administration of justice, together with unblemished personal reputations, but will insist that the political doctrines they avow shall be such as comport with sound policy and meet the exigencies of the times. It is, therefore, folly for Mr. SHARSWOOD or any of his supporters to raise an outcry because his political opinions are being inquired into.

FARM, GARDEN AND HOUSEHOLD.

Horticultural Hints.

From the New York Horticulturist, for July, we copy the following seasonable suggestions:

Grape vines, which have been permitted to set all their fruit freely and to grow without care, may be now gone over, and the error of neglect in a measure remedied. If three bunches have got on a cane, pinch the cane back to three or four leaves from the last bunch; then act your good common sense judgment as to which of the three bunches promises the least results, and with your vine scissors cut it away. Stop the laterals now, except upon the canes you design for next year's fruiting, by pinching them off as far back as can be done by the nails of your thumb and finger meeting; don't break and tear them away, or use a knife, but the tender, immature wood which your thumb and finger will remove by pinching will prove a benefit to the vine, while slashing and cutting will create injury. If you want really nice bunches, and even well matured fruit for your own table or market, we believe we will gain even on a large scale by now thinning out the small and surplus berries on each bunch by means of vine scissors. In small grounds there is no doubt of the value of this practice for the table, and we incline to a belief that the same practice will pay in market by the extra price obtained for the grapes.

Strawberry Beds, as soon as they have done fruiting, should be dug over deeply between the rows, in order to have new plants from the runners take freely. It is well, as soon as the ground is dug, to go over and train out the runners from the main or old plants just to the point wanted, and sprinkle a little earth over each starting bud. Repeat this from time to time, and early in the fall you can dig under the old vines, and thus help to increase the vigor of the young or new rows.

Hybrid, perpetual, and other roses may be layered this month, or as soon as they have completed their first flowering. Earlier writers told us to make the cut on the under side; recent writers say cut on the upper side. Moss from the woods is the best material for mulching or covering the soil where the layer is made, but if that is not readily obtainable, fresh mown grass is good.

Swedish and other upright junipers that occasionally become to open, may be induced to grow more compact by winding them up with a fine wire at this season of the year, so that as the stems and branches harden and mature, they will more readily retain the upright habit.

Verbenas, to cause continual flowering should never be permitted to seed. As soon as a bloom begins to fade, pick it off, pinching the shoot back two buds from the flower.

Seeds of many of our hardy shrubs, if gathered as soon as ripened, and sown in light, sandy loam, or leaf mold, in a cold frame, slightly protected by means of an old strip of cloth, can be grown into plants of from six to eighteen inches this season, and suitable for planting out in nursery rows or hedges next spring.

Red Clover.

S. Edwards Todd, in discussing this subject at a late meeting of the New York Farmers' Club, said:

Animals are formed with a stomach and digestive apparatus within their bodies, while plants, like red clover, have the digestive powers on the outside of the roots, which work over and digest coarse and barren particles of earth, fitting them for the production of cereal grain or fine vegetables for culinary purposes. In many parts of the older States, red clover alone has maintained the fertility of the soil for more than sixty years. Without it the proprietors of these farms would have been obliged to dispose of their homes as best they could, and migrate to the fertile plains of our western world, where at present the cultivation of red clover is not a necessity. Yet the day is coming, and it is not far in the unknown future, when red clover will be called into requisition in the west, where manure is now a nuisance, and fertilizing matter a thing of indifference. On the heavy, stubborn soils of the slopes of our northern lakes, the production of red clover has been of incalculable value in renovating and changing the character of those stubborn soils, so as to render them more productive from year to year. Under the ameliorating influences of a crop of red clover, farms that produced scarcely a remunerating crop when the virgin soil was first turned with the plow, now yield annually heavy crops of choice wheat or other grain. The distinguishing characteristic of red clover as a renovator of the soil, is to produce vegetable mould or humus. Where humus abounds in large quantities in the soil, red clover is not the fertilizer required. But where the surface is not covered by a stratum of fine mould, red clover can be raised with eminent satisfaction and profit. Our most extensive Pennsylvania farmers understand and appreciate the excellence and efficiency of red clover. Almost our entire country has got to renovate with red clover. Old and impoverished fields will eventually be made to feel the ameliorating influences of the efficient renovator of poor and badly managed soil. And this great and desirable change will be wrought out by the production of red clover. When the thousands of acres of uncultivated and despised land of Long Island, and the vast tracts of wild land in South Jersey, shall be brought under the ameliorating and subduing influences of red clover, those who occupy the positions where we now stand will see the wilderness and solitary places rejoice, and the desert blossom as the rose.

Two Queens in one Hive.

On examining a nucleus hive in which I was rearing queens, just at night, I found a fine young Italian just hatched. As there was little if any brood in the hive I went hastily to a good strong colony and took out a frame of brood to give to the small one, to prevent the bees leaving when the queen made her flight. Two days after, on examining the hive to see if the queen was depositing eggs, I found on the first frame that I lifted out an old queen with one wing clipped and the cells all filled with eggs. I knew the queen was the mother of the colony from which I had taken the brood comb so hurriedly. On the frame I found my young queen unharmed, quite contrary to my expectation. To observe the ending of the matter I left both in it. Several days of bad weather followed. I looked into the hive each afternoon and found both queens doing well. Then came a bright warm day and about noon, as I passed the hive, I saw the bees dragging out what proved to be my young queen, and on opening it the old one was found in full possession.

My inference is that the young one left the hive, and had been fertilized, and on her return was killed by either queen or workers, who before had not distinguished her from a common bee.—Ellen S. Tupper, in American Bee Journal.

A New Idea for Housing Poultry.

A correspondent of the American Agriculturist gives a novel plan for a poultry house. It consists of a light building four by nine feet, and four and a half feet high, without floor, and set upon wheels or rollers. Three feet at one end open lath work, and the remaining six feet partitioned off—the partition coming down within a foot of the ground inclosing three by four feet. The inclosed portion is for the roosts and nest boxes. The house is designed for fifteen hens, and is to set on the grass and moved its length every day. The writer states that such a house is in practical operation, and works well, the advantages being that the fowls get fresh grass every day, that they thrive better in small than in large flocks, that they can thus be kept more cleanly and in better health, and that by moving the house in any locality on the premises, so that it may be sheltered or exposed in warm or cold weather, a more even temperature can be maintained. The house is to be provided with windows and doors, and can be made ornamental or otherwise, to suit taste.

The idea is novel, and we should judge not a bad one either.—Maryland Farmer.

ABOUT THE DOOR.—A bit of shrubbery in the yard, a vine climbing by a trellis, a strip of refreshing green spread from the door, are sure to make a place of greater marketable value, which, with many, is a consideration to be thought of before any other. Such need no further appeal to their sense of neatness, then. But those who really love the suggestions of beauty for their own sake, will not omit the turf patch, the shrubbery and the hedge and vine, because they make almost any home more attractive and lovely, and cause the sentiments to sprout, like the very leaves and buds themselves. How few stop to consider what a powerful association lies lurking in every simple but familiar object that hold us almost as steadily and strongly to home as wife and children they are closely associated with these in fact, and can with difficulty be separated. Therefore, we say to all, brush up about the door, and plant near by an object of simple beauty. It will bear fruit in the heart a hundred fold.—Mass. Ploughman.

SUMMER PRUNING OF GRAPEVINES.—Dr. John A. Warder, the experienced grape grower of Ohio, writes to the American Journal of Horticulture as follows: "Pinching off the ends of some of the shoots is a very important part of summer pruning; but it is one which has been very much abused in practice, and still more so in the criticisms of those who theoretically condemn the practice. It is well for us to consider that, in all pruning of vines, we must remember the necessity of keeping the plant in due shape as to its wood, and that we desire to have this properly distributed. We want the new growth, which goes to form the canes for the next year's fruitage, formed low down on the stock, and not at the ends or higher parts of the vine, which would soon give us high, naked stocks, and bare, empty trellises, such as may everywhere be seen."

FRUIT THIEVING AND DESTRUCTION OF TREES AND SHRUBS.—As the season is now at hand when persons who cultivate fruits are annoyed by marauding fruit thieves, we publish for their benefit the following provision from the penal code of Pennsylvania to meet such cases: "If any person shall wilfully or maliciously injure or destroy any fruit or ornamental trees, shrub, plant or grape vines growing or cultivated in any orchard, garden, or close, or upon any public street or square, in this Commonwealth, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction, be fined not exceeding one hundred dollars, and undergo an imprisonment not exceeding six months, or both, or either, at the discretion of the court."

NEW RASPBERRY.—Our admirable agricultural newspaper and neighbor, the Germantown Telegraph, in its issue of July 17th, states:—Our friend Benjamin Coleman, of Byberry, has left with us a sample of a new raspberry, called the Bristol, which possesses some excellent qualities. It is a red berry of about medium size, ripens after most others have disappeared, is firm in flesh, and bears carrying to any distance. It is perfectly hardy, and of excellent quality. It will be a great addition in the raspberry line, and now sells at from 50 to 60 cents per quart. Mr. Coleman will have the plants for sale the coming fall and spring.

TO PROTECT YOUNG APPLE TREES AGAINST MICE.—Every farmer has plenty of old tins—such as boilers, tin pails, tin pans, &c.—which can be put to most excellent use. I take a large pair of shears and cut the old tin into strips of a parallelogram—the shorter side equal to the circumference of the young trees; the longer the other side is the better. I then bend the tin so cut around the young tree near the root, and my word for it, no mice will excoriate the trees so treated.

A GERMAN writer estimates that an acre of buckwheat yielded fourteen pounds of honey daily. Single hives gathered three pounds on favorable days.

THE CINCINNATI Gazette publishes from its Washington correspondent further extracts from the testimony taken by the Judiciary Committee. The witness appears to be a Union officer from Indiana, who for a time acted as private secretary to Andrew Johnson, while he was Military Governor of Tennessee. He testifies to improper relations existing at that time between Mr. Johnson and the widow of a rebel officer, who used her position to secure lucrative trading permits and official positions for her son-in-law. This woman had great influence over Mr. Johnson and followed him to Washington at the time of the inauguration. The same witness was present at part of a very friendly interview with J. Wilkes Booth and Mr. Johnson just before the assassination. Witness saw Mr. Johnson at his room at the Kirkwood House the day of the inauguration, after he had made such a shameful exhibition of himself and observed, "Great God, you have ruined yourself and the party."

"President Johnson raised himself up on his elbow, and said: 'By God, I will straighten myself out and make myself felt before the end of my administration. Mr. Blair has been here and invited me to go up to his house, which I intend to do on Monday. Burnside (servant) go down to the bar and get me some whisky.' I then left the room."

CHOLERA! CHOLERA!

With the almost certain advent of Cholera, no thoughtful person will be unprepared for it. Severe past experience has demonstrated to be the most certain antidote—that which has cured once will cure again, and never purchase a new and untried article, when an OLD AND RELIABLE ARTICLE can be had. When the cholera visited us on two former occasions, it was found by experience that

FLEMING'S CHOLERA MIXTURE

Was the best, and superseded all others, therefore it stands to reason that, if you would have an article that you can depend on, you should purchase it to the exclusion of all others.

CONVINCING.

FULTON, OSWEGO CO., July, 1866.

MESSRS. HOSTETTER & SMITH—Gentlemen: I have been severely afflicted with paralysis of the stomach, and even given up by several eminent physicians. I have tried several remedies of a tonic and stimulating nature, but without any good result. Some three or four months ago I was induced to try your STOMACH BITTERS, and have used about seven or eight bottles with a decided benefit. My health is greatly improved; and I consider your BITTERS the only efficacious remedy of their kind in the market. If used as directed they will always prove a sovereign remedy to those afflicted with dyspepsia or other diseases of a like nature.

Respectfully yours, LYMAN MUDGE.

HASTINGS, Dakota Co., Minn., Aug., 1866.

MESSRS. HOSTETTER & SMITH, Pittsburgh.—Gentlemen: Have sold your BITTERS ever since they were brought out, and consider them the best among the many before the public. Those brought out since the tax has been imposed on spirits are trash. I never recommend them.

Respectfully and truly yours, H. J. MARVIN.

COLON, St Joseph Co., Mich., July 21, 1866.

MESSRS. HOSTETTER & SMITH—Gentlemen: I consider your BITTERS a sovereign balm for a thousand ails. Yours, truly, D. C. REYNOLDS, M. D.

CURE OF FISTULA.

DR. KEYSER: I write to thank you for your kindness and scientific management of my disease, for which I called to consult you some time in January last. You will remember that I had a complication of diseases, which finally ended in a terrible fistula, which I had been advised to "let alone" on account of a harassing cough, which it was feared might fasten on my lungs. I knew that the popular mode of treating diseases like mine was by a cutting operation, which, if successful at all, would naturally throw the disease upon the lungs or some other vital organ, on account of the suddenness of the cure and the immediate check to a discharge which I was constrained to believe was a salutary provision of Nature to get rid of some morbid condition in the system. I feel perfectly satisfied that your method of treatment, purifying to the system, and local applications to the fistulous part, must cure, if anything could, without cutting, which I find it did, and I am happy to report myself well in every particular, with sounder and better health than I have had for years. I would also add that the applications you made were almost painless, and have left me a new man, with all the energies and vigor of restored health.

Yours, gratefully, J— C—.

Dr. Keyser's consultation rooms are No. 120 Penn street, from 8 A. M. until 4 p. m.

ALLEGHENY

GROCERY AND PROVISION

COMPANY.

JOHN A. McGRAW, President.

J. P. ISRAEL, Secretary.

PRESENT OFFICE:

26 FEDERAL STREET,

ALLEGHENY.

This Company was organized and has for its object the cheapening of everything relating to family use; and, for this purpose, will open a store in a central location, and sell goods at the real cost of the goods, and a slight addition for expenses. The stock is divided into shares of $50 each. Only ONE DOLLAR A WEEK is to be paid until it is all paid up. The shareholders will receive their goods at their own doors from 33 to 60 per cent. less than they can buy at the regular sales of a retail store. Besides this, they will participate in the profits which are to be realized from selling at the regular retail rates to parties who are not holders of the stock. The stock is being rapidly bought up, and it is supposed the store can be opened up in 30 or 60 days. This is the poor man's chance, as he will be able to save twice as much in a year as he pays for his stock. Besides this, it is expected this stock will rapidly rise to 100 per cent. above par. There is only a limited amount now for sale, though many a poor man can yet get a chance to take a share in the profits, as well as get his groceries and produce at cost, even if he has only paid one dollar on it. Just think of it! you will go into a grocery store and spend $5, and $2 of it is clear profit to the storekeeper; whereas, by investing one of these dollars in this Company, you can save the other. By purchasing even one share of stock, instead of being a burden it will actually be a saving to you of from $1 to $5 per week, besides paying your weekly instalment on your stock.

The stock can be sold at any time for its full value, that you may need the money.

ONLY ONE DOLLAR PER WEEK

Is required on each share. This is a Savings Bank in which your profits are immediate and direct. You get your interest right in your hands, and a share of the profits at the end of the year.

Parties wishing to subscribe can do so at

SECOND

GRAND PRESENTATION

ENTERTAINMENT!

WILL POSITIVELY TAKE PLACE

SATURDAY, August 24, 1867,

AT

IRVING HALL, NEW YORK.

This Grand Distribution of Prizes will be Conducted on the Mutual Benefit Principle.

A PRO RATA DISTRIBUTION OF PROFITS TO TICKET-HOLDERS!

Capital, - - $1,287,148.

TICKETS, ONE DOLLAR EACH,

And limited to One Million Two Hundred and Eighty-seven Thousand One Hundred & Forty-eight.

The Fairest and Most Impartial Plan of Presentation yet Offered to the Public.

A PRIZE WITH EVERY TICKET.

PROSPECTUS.

A number of the leading Bankers and Merchants of New York, in consideration of the great success which has attended many of the Charitable Presentation Entertainments of the day, have organized themselves into a company with the view of inaugurating an enterprise which, while it shall return them a fair profit, shall offer greater advantages to ticket-purchasers than any yet presented; and which, being conducted upon a perfectly legitimate and business basis, shall be free from those objectionable features which have characterized many of these enterprises.

To this end they have consigned the sale of tickets, and the registering of the same, to CLARK, WEBSTER & CO., Bankers and Managers, No. 62 Broadway, New York, who will keep the records in their custody until the day of the Grand Presentation Entertainment, when they will be handed over to a committee selected by the audience to make an impartial distribution of prizes.

A reference to the number of prizes and the general plan of distribution, given below, will convince even the most sceptical of the great advantages which will accrue to all who participate in the enterprise; and the Commercial and financial standing of the company, and the Bankers and Bankers thereof, will be, we hope, a sufficient guaranty of the fairness and impartiality with which everything in connection with the scheme will be conducted, and that the interests of ticket holders will be most strictly watched over and guarded. It is the desire of the Managers to conduct every transaction for the mutual benefit of whoever shall purchase a ticket, and scrupulously to avoid any and everything which could in the slightest degree diminish the profits which are likely to accrue to a ticket-holder.

The track of the road is extended down to, and along the water's end, at Brady's Bend, so as to afford all necessary facilities for the convenient and speedy transfer of oil from boats to cars.

THE

UNION PACIFIC

RAILROAD CO.

Are now constructing a Railroad from OMAHA, NEBRASKA, westward towards the Pacific Ocean, making, with its connections, an unbroken line

ACROSS THE CONTINENT.

The Company now offer a limited amount of their

FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS,

Having thirty years to run, and bearing annual interest, payable on the first day of January and July, in the City of New York, at the rate of

SIX PER CENT. IN GOLD,

At Ninety Cents on the Dollar.

This road was completed from Omaha 305 miles west on the 1st of January, 1867, and is fully equipped, and trains are regularly running over it. The Company has now on hand sufficient iron, ties, etc., to finish the remaining portion to the eastern base of the Rocky Mountains, 212 miles, which is under contract to be done September 1st of this year, and it is expected that the entire road will be in running order from Omaha to its western connection with the Central Pacific, now being rapidly built eastward from Sacramento, Cal., during 1870.

Means of the Company.

Estimating the distance to be built by the Union Pacific to be 1,565 miles, the United States Government issues its Six per cent. Thirty-year Bonds to the Company as the road is finished at the average rate of about $28,250 per mile, amounting to $44,208,000.

The Company is also permitted to issue its own First Mortgage Bonds to an equal amount, and at the same time, which BY SPECIAL ACT OF CONGRESS ARE MADE A FIRST MORTGAGE ON THE ENTIRE LINE, the bonds of the United States being subordinate to them.

The Government makes a donation of 12,800 acres of land to the mile, amounting to 20,032,000 acres, estimated to be worth $30,000,000, making the total resources, exclusive of the capital, $118,416,000; but the full value of the lands cannot now be realized.

The authorized Capital Stock of the Company is one hundred million dollars, of which five millions have already been paid in, and of which it is not supposed that more than twenty-five millions at most will be required.

The cost of the road is estimated by competent engineers to be about one hundred million dollars, exclusive of equipment.

Prospects for Business.

The railroad connection between Omaha and the East is now complete, and the earnings of the Union Pacific on the sections already finished, for the month of May, were $251,782. These sectional earnings, as the road progresses, will much more than pay the interest on the Company's bonds, and the through business over the only line of railroad between the Atlantic and Pacific must be immense.

Value and Security of the Bonds.

The Company respectfully submit that the above statement of facts fully demonstrates the security of their Bonds, and as additional proof they would suggest that the Bonds now offered are less than ten million dollars on 517 miles of road, on which over twenty million dollars have already been expended; on 305 miles of this road the cars are now running, and the remaining 212 miles are nearly completed.

At the present rate of premium on gold these bonds pay an annual interest on the present cost of

Nine Per Cent.,

And it is believed that on the completion of the road, like the Government Bonds, they will go above par. The Company intend to sell but a limited amount at the present low rate, and retain the right to advance the price at their option.

IN THE SUBURBS.

On the South Side—East Birmingham—Birmingham—South Pittsburgh—Water Works—Gas Works, &c., &c.

The boroughs on the South side of the Monongahela river contribute more than any other of the suburban corporations to the importance of Pittsburgh in the way of manufacturing, and it is for this that our city has been termed the Birmingham of America. On the South side are the largest glass and iron works, and there they also exist in large number, the location being most advantageous, principally on account of the convenient facilities for obtaining fuel. The progress of the uppermost boroughs—those above the Suspension bridge—East Birmingham, Birmingham and South Pittsburgh has been marked in the last few years. Indeed it has been remarkable. Substantial improvement can be traced first from the establishment of the gas works, now in full tide of prosperity, and next from the water works, these two important adjuncts to already fairly thriving communities imparting a degree of enterprise in all matters of business which has resulted in the advancement observable on all sides. Years ago, when gas and water works were not seriously thought of, and after they were projected and in progress, it was our province to pay occasional visits to the South side, as well as other city environs, and make note of such improvements as fell under our observation. This is still our province, and having visited familiar places, renewed acquaintance with old friends, propose to make note thereof.

EAST BIRMINGHAM.

Of the three boroughs named we will not be charged with partiality in giving East Birmingham precedence, for it is so entitled. Although youngest, we believe, as to date of incorporation, its increase in population, and in other respects, has been much more rapid than the parent borough, or South Pittsburgh. Since 1861, or the breaking out of the war, the population, we are safe in saying, has been doubled, and although there yet remains considerable unimproved space, the number of buildings erected within that time is comparatively large. When the tide fairly set in, about three years ago, real estate advanced rapidly and land owners realized handsomely in the sale of lots. At the present time transactions are not active, and the real estate business may be stated to be dull, although good prices are maintained. Lots on Carson street sell for $2,500 or $3,000, and on back streets they are generally held as high as $1,000. The street improvements which have been made, and are still going on, are extensive, and in this respect better judgment has been exercised than in other boroughs, both as to regularity and width of thoroughfares. Those running parallel with the river are eighty feet in width, and those at right angles sixty feet. Comparison in this respect with the old borough is vastly in favor of East Birmingham, and is plainly obvious. In the old borough the streets are narrower and laid out with less regularity, the desire to make corner lots being gratified regardless of general uniformity.

SEWER CONSTRUCTION.

Just now there is being constructed a sewer six feet in diameter, with a descent of ten inches in one hundred feet, across the borough, in the ravine near Railroad street. This sewer will be some two thousand feet in length when completed, and will cost about twenty-five thousand dollars, payable out of the general fund. At Sarah street the sewer will diverge in two branches, that toward Railroad street, to receive the body of water which flows from the hillside down that street to continue of the uniform diameter of six feet, while that in the other direction will be one foot smaller. It has progressed from a point on the lower side of the borough to Carson street, which has been bridged to allow the passenger railway cars to pass over, passage by other vehicles being prohibited for the time being. Its construction will render a large space of ground available for building purposes, not heretofore used in consequence of imperfect drainage. During next season it is designed to complete the sewer to the river. The work is superintended by Major Patterson, the active and efficient borough Regulator, and is being constructed in most durable style.

THE WATER WORKS.

These are located in the borough, and are in full operation. The reservoirs have been completed, and the mains are being extended as rapidly as the funds of the company permit. Although considerable trouble has been experienced, everything is now working as smoothly and satisfactorily as could reasonably be expected. The assessments are high, (we have not exact figures) but none too high, considering the advantages which have accrued, and which will be increased from an adequate water supply.

SCHOOL HOUSES.

The capacious and conveniently designed three story school building is progressing rapidly, is in readiness for the roof, and it is expected will be complete for occupancy in October next. It will cost, furnished, in the neighborhood of $40,000. The educational interests of the borough have materially suffered from lack of sufficiently large buildings to accommodate the rapidly increasing number of scholars, and in this behalf the school boards have been somewhat remiss in their duties. For some years past three buildings have been occupied as schools—Nos. 1 and 2 school houses, neither of them adequate in size, besides miserably inconvenient, and the Academy building, rented. The new house, when available, will fall short in supplying the want of room, and in view of the fact it is contemplated to commence the erection of another building, of similar size and design, the only hesitancy in the matter resulting from the likelihood of determined opposition to the increased taxation which would be required in order to raise the necessary funds. We think that in a prosperous community, like that of East Birmingham, there should be no delay in the matter, as whatever may be the cost, in providing ample school facilities, it would be money well spent. In this enlightened age communities are judged of as they are in keeping with the advancement of civilization.

THE PASSENGER RAILWAY.

We have stated that the gas and water works have in the main produced the rapid advancement spoken of, but we must not omit to give due credit to the passenger railway as a most valuable auxiliary. The railway, which traverses the three boroughs, is one of the best managed in all respects of any in our midst, and hence stands high in favor with the community. Its officers and employees, while affording all possible convenience to the public, are mindful of all the rules and requirements by which they were granted the right of way by the borough authorities, and hence there is no complaining.

THE JUSTICES.

We could not fail of calling at the office of Justice August Ammon, nor at that of Justice John P. Heisel. These dignitaries, competent and amiable gentlemen, in addition to well and faithfully discharging their duties as conservators of the public peace, perform such manifold offices for their constituents that they are aptly termed the "head centers" of the borough. Although of opposite politics, Justice A. being a Radical and Justice H. a Conservative Democrat, their relations are of the most amicable character, not permitting their political opinions to interfere with their conduct as good citizens. In the way of police items they did not contribute to our note book. To their credit be it said, these magistrates are not of the sort who "make business" by encouraging litigation, after the manner of some of our city magistrates, who live mainly by the costs they "grind" out of poor unfortunate people, preferring this sort of business to the more legitimate, which their qualifications fail to attract.

BIRMINGHAM BOROUGH.

We are now in more contracted limits, not perhaps in respect to area of territory, but certainly in respect to narrow and more compactly built up streets. Carson street, in the old borough, is much narrower, one third at least, than in East Birmingham, and the side streets are in proportion. On all sides, however, there are signs of substantial improvement. Elegant brick buildings, for dwellings, stores, &c., are being put up. On Washington street we noticed one particularly fine block in course of erection by Mr. John Nusser, and designed, we believe, for a tavern. On the same street Mr. Martin Shaffer has had laid the foundation for a brick building, designed for a hotel. Others that we noticed, some of really fine design and finish, are designed for stores with dwellings attached, uniformly three stories in height. We understand that quite a number of houses have been contracted for, to be commenced this season.

SANITARY OBSERVATIONS.

In the matter of cleanliness it is apparent the Street Commissioner (or other authority) has not been as active in the discharge of his duty as this season of the year particularly requires he should be. Were the cholera in our midst, those of the citizens who seemingly take no heed of the filth by which their premises are surrounded, might be induced to do a little cleaning up. But at present, with no cholera alarm, their heedlessness seems of a degree only to be acquired by constant association with filth, or snuffing of tainted atmosphere. Passing through a portion of the borough, it seemed to us, filthiness was predominant, and remembering that the cholera once obtained a foothold and became epidemic in the borough, through this cause, we thought the same might occur again, and would suggest that committees, such as were appointed last year by the borough authorities, renew their sanitary measures. From what we saw, we doubt not if special effort were made there would be discovered sufficient to cause fear of pestilence.

THE GAS WORKS.

These are located at the upper side of the borough, and are now in the midst of a densely populated neighborhood. The gas mains now extend throughout the three boroughs and beyond, westward, and it has been discovered that presently the capacity of the works will have to be enlarged in order to supply the demand. Hence what was urged at the time of the erection of the works, and what was predicted when no attention was paid to the objections, is now apparent. They are badly located, and an increase of capacity would be attended with considerable inconvenience, if, indeed, it is not out of the question, in consequence of the surroundings. Learning wisdom by experience, the company have secured a location on the river bank, below Dam No. 1, where they propose, next season, to remove the works, and dispose of their present property.

SOUTH PITTSBURGH.

This borough may be considered about finished. Its population is less than either of the others referred to, but nevertheless covers about the same area of ground. The boundary line extends to the top of the hill, but the hillside being unavailable for building purposes, the greater portion of the town lies between the main thoroughfare, (Carson street) and the river. A great error was made years ago, in establishing the grades of the streets, and it is now very apparent. Short, steep grades exist, where they might have been made more easy at but comparatively small expense. Even now, looking years hence, it might be considered good policy to alter some of the grades.

As in the other boroughs, there is considerable building going on. We noticed a new glass works about completed, and Robinson, Rea & Co., have rebuilt their machine shop, destroyed by fire a short time since. The present building is of frame, iron-clad, is longer and wider, and considered better adapted to building machinery than the former one. We found but little else of interest in the borough to take note of.

The co-operative association has not yet got under way, a sufficient amount of stock not having been taken to enable them to go into active operation. A lot, however, has been secured, upon which they design erecting a building.

VILLAGE OF ALLENTOWN.

On top of the hill, on the Brownsville road, or where the roads fork, in Lower St. Clair township, a village, called Allentown, has sprung up, through the energy of mechanics, who, tiring of paying high rents, have purchased lots and built upon them, giving to the locality quite a thrifty appearance, and affording a sign of what will there exist a few years hence. A great portion of the residents are mechanics, whose employment is in South Pittsburgh, and who formerly lived in the borough. The same effect of high rents is observable in all localities about the city, and it is but a natural effect.

JUSTICE W. H. BARKER.

Continues to dispense even-handed justice to his constituents, and also to preside as the municipal head of the borough. He is a worthy gentleman, and as a magistrate enjoys the entire confidence of the community.

RAILWAY SURVEYS.

For some time past surveying parties have been operating along the base of the hill in the boroughs referred to, with a view of determining upon a line for a railway track. We heard it stated that the Southern Pennsylvania Railroad Company have been prospecting for a route by which, connecting at this city with the Panhandle, they might reach Baltimore and Washington by as short, if not shorter, line than the Connellsville after connection with the Baltimore and Ohio. Engineers connected with the Monongahela Valley Railroad have also been making surveys over the same ground.

THE SUSPENSION BRIDGE.

Returning home (to the office) we noticed important repairs being made to the suspension bridge. In addition to the repairs to the cartway, and in the way of painting, the Company are having erected at the city end two brick buildings, of neat design, one intended for a toll house and the other for the business meetings of the directors.

The boroughs further down the river, on the South side, will next claim our attention.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, MONDAY, July 29, 1867.

The New York stock quotations to-day, as received by Mr. P. R. Mertz, were as follows: Gold, 140⅜; Eighty-one bonds, 110; Five Twenties, 1862, 111¾; Five Twenties, 1864, 109⅝; Five Twenties, 1865, 109⅝; Consols, 108¼; Seven Thirties, 107½; Ten Forties, 102⅝. Stocks—Erie Railroad, 77¼; Cleveland & Pittsburgh, 93½; Chicago and Rock Island, 103⅝; Chicago and Northwestern 51¼; Chicago and Northwestern preferred 73¼; Fort Wayne Railroad, 100⅝; Michigan Southern Railroad, 83; New York Central, 109¼; Reading, 108; Western Union Telegraph Company, 48¼. Mining shares—Corydon, 1,65; Quartz Hill, 2,10; Gregory, 6,60; Smith & Parmalee, 6,00.

War rumors and unprecedented heavy shipments of coin last week have had a bad effect on the gold market, and 140⅛ was bid for any amount offered. Cash gold is scarcer, and 1-32 per cent. to 1-16 is paid per day for gold loans. Government securities are very dull, and in the absence of any heavy orders from the interior, have declined from ⅛@¼ per cent. Round lots are thrown on the market by dealers who have purchased heavily during the recent high prices. Railroad shares are still on the rise, and the enormous amounts of idle capital available for temporary investments seems to be the only cause of this rise. Most of the shorts have all been covered, and the slightest sign for an approaching panic would cause an excitement such as was never witnessed in Wall street. Mining shares are better, except Corydon.

Local money market improving. The demand for money is less pressing than it was at the beginning of the month.

The following statement exhibits the business of the Pittsburgh Clearing House, for the week ending Saturday, July 27th:

—The question of a system of redemption for National bank notes is constantly under discussion in some quarters, and the attention of the Comptroller of the Currency, who is now in Boston, has this week been particularly called to the necessity for some action upon this matter. The two old redeeming banks, the Suffolk National and the National Redemption institution, which still do an immense amount of country bank business, are very much discommoded by the absence of any central redemption for National currency. The much talked bill business is a most unpleasant feature of the present state of things.—Boston Bul.

—The competition among the national banks for "accounts," seems to have reached its climax out West. A Chicago paper, the Republican, states that bank officers of that city offer, among other inducements, to give their depositors United States bonds as security for their deposits. This is the result of the habit of paying interest upon deposits—a practice which we have steadily condemned, and which sooner or later, will be generally disapproved. During the height of the panic of 1857 a prominent bank president in a leading Western city told the riotous crowd which thronged the closed doors of his banking building, that they might charge most of their troubles to the absurd practice of the banks, of paying interest upon the balances of their depositors.

In 1864, during the era of depression following the suspension of specie payment and the numerous failures of leading merchants in all parts of the country, a report denouncing the practice of paying interest upon current deposits were presented by a committee made up of John Earl, Wm. W. A. Booth, and other leading New York bankers, and forty of the forty-six banks of New York city, united in a written agreement to discontinue the custom, provided all the banks should concur. At that time it was generally agreed among the New York bankers, that the practice in question was "inherently unsound, dangerous, and without any fair precedent in older countries."

—Of the Bridgeport bank fraud the Springfield Republican says: "Howard Barnum, teller of the Pequonnock National Bank of Bridgeport has been ascertained to be a defaulter to the amount of $12,000, and has disappeared. Young Barnum is a nephew of P. T. Barnum, and had been teller of the bank for about four years. Until recently he was foreman of the Americus hose company, and was very popular among they boys. Fast horses and fast women have been the cause of his ruin. By marriage he is connected with one of the best families in Bridgeport, and his wife, who has feeble health, is now with her mother at Saratoga. The bank will only loose about $2,000 by the defalcation, as Barnum's bonds amount to $10,000.

—The cable reports a reduction by the Bank of England of its rate of discount to 2 per cent. This step was rendered necessary, as trade was very slack. The London Economist of July 13th, said "that capital of the country day by day accumulates in excess of corresponding employment, and the necessary consequence will be a fall in the rate of interest.

INTERESTING TO THE OIL TRADE.

The Boston Commercial Bulletin, of July 27th, states under the heading of "Business News," that "an Oil Exchange has been established at Reading, Pennsylvania, and some sixty refiners, dealers and brokers in Petroleum have agreed to meet daily at 12 o'clock at the Exchange rooms." The Bulletin would do better by locating the Exchange at Pittsburgh.

Boston Wool Market.

BOSTON, July 28.—The wool market is weak, and prices lower and tending down, but it can hardly be characterized as dull, since, at the reduced rates the article is selling quite freely, and transactions for the past week foot up a large aggregate. The receipts of new wool have been very heavy of late; and, with stocks rapidly accumulating on the hands of dealers—who, in most cases have made large advances on consignments—there is a general disposition on their part to meet the market in a liberal spirit.

So far as buyers are concerned, they would generally prefer waiting till there is some movement in the goods market which will relieve them of at least a portion of their accumulated products. But when raw material is offered upon their own terms and the prospect is that it may be higher as soon as general trade starts up, and receipts begin to fall off, the temptation is strong for them to lay in stocks for their future requirements. This they are accustomed to do at this stage of season; and they would do so now, quite willingly and at fair prices, if their products were selling to the usual extent and at renumerative rates.

Though the new clip is coming forward about as rapidly as it did at the corresponding time last season, there is no excitement in the western markets or wool-growing regions. On the contrary, country prices are almost everywhere weak, and continue to shade off, with very little competition among buyers. One notable feature of the trade, this season, is the almost entire absence of manufacturing agents in the corps of operators now engaged in buying up the clip. This is not strange, under the circumstances, however, since manufacturers can do much better to take their chances in the eastern markets, than they possibly could by going to the country.

Sales of domestic for the week have been quite liberal and foot up some 1,000,000 lbs at a range of 25@60c for fleece, and and 45@47½c for the various grades of pulled.

New York Cattle Market.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

NEW YORK, July 29.—Receipts—5,431 beeves; 21,997 sheep and lambs; 21,536 hogs. Beef cattle quiet, depressed and slightly lower; about 1400 head on sale to-day. The average quality offering is not as good as last week. Extra occasionally sold at 17½c, but generally at 17¼c; prime, 16½@17; first quality, 16@16¼c; fair to good, 14½@15¼c, and ordinary to inferior, 12@14c. Sheep and Lambs dull and heavy, consequent on large arrivals to-day; offerings moderate; demand brisk. A firm tone pervaded the market; some sales of extra sheep were made as high as 6¼c; prime, 5⅝@6c; inferior to common, 4@5½c. Lambs unchanged at 9@10c for extra, and 6@8¼c for inferior to good. The Hog market has been somewhat variable during the week. On Wednesday prices ranged from 7½c to 7⅝c per pound, and on Thursday from 7⅜c to 7½c, with a fair supply. To-day the market was weaker, caused by unusually heavy arrivals; demand good and offerings quickly sold at 7¼@7⅝c, chiefly at 7⅜@7½c, for ordinary to common.

Chicago Cattle Market.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

CHICAGO, July 29.—Beef cattle dull and unchanged. Hogs quiet; $6,50@6,80 for fair to good smooth. Receipts—1,200 hogs.

PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, MONDAY, July 29, 1867.

The general markets present no new characteristics worthy of special notice. There is no improvement to note in the demand for any of the leading commodities, and, in anticipation of lower prices, both dealers and consumers are operating as lightly as possible, the main object being to keep stocks down to the lowest possible point.

GRAIN—There is rather more activity in Wheat; sale of 1 car No. 1 (old) Chicago Spring at $2,48; and—last week—it is reported there was a sale of 2000 bushels Ohio Winter, to arrive, at $2,20. Oats dull and drooping; sale of 150 bushels, on wharf, at 80c, and small sales at the usual advance. Corn is quiet and nominally unchanged; prime Yellow may be quoted at $1@1,05. Rye is quiet; nominal at $1,35@1,40.

FLOUR—Is dull and weak though prices are nominally unchanged. Choice Spring Wheat brands may be quoted at $11,50@12. New Ohio Winter wheat is selling at $11,75@12, and fancy brands at $15@16. Rye Flour is quiet and unchanged at $8 25.

PROVISIONS—Bacon is quiet but steady with regular jobbing sales at 13½@13¾c for shoulders; 16@16c for Ribbed and Clear Sides, and 21½@22c for Sugar Cured Hams. Lard is dull but held firmly at 13c@13¼c for prime cattle rendered. Mess Pork is dull but firm at $25@25,50.

POTATOES—Coming in quite freely, and with a supply somewhat in excess of the demand, prices are declining and unsettled, ranging from $3,50@4,00 per bbl.

GREEN APPLES—The arrivals are increasing rapidly, and notwithstanding the supply as yet, is light, the market is a little weak and the tendency is downward; we now quote at $4 to $6 per bbl, as to quality.

BUTTER—Is dull and unchanged, and while the supply of prime fresh is light, it is nevertheless fully up the demand; small sales at 15@16c.

EGGS—Dull and, if anything a shade lower; we now quote fresh packed at 21@22c.

CHEESE—Is in fair demand and steady but unchanged. We continue to quote at 13@15c, as to quality.

HAY—Is dull with a supply up to the demand; sales of new at scales at $16,00 to $20 per ton.

MILL FEED—The market seems to be perfectly glutted with Bran, and it is hard to sell at anything like market price. Middlings may be quoted steady at $1,25 and scarce.

SEEDS—Small sales of Flaxseed at $2,80. Not enough doing in Clover or Timothy to establish quotations.

SALT—Continues very dull though nominally unchanged.

PITTSBURGH PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, MONDAY, July 29, 1867.

CRUDE—There was a decidedly stronger feeling to day, and with more buyers and fewer sellers, prices, compared with last week, are a shade higher. The "bulls" appear to have it pretty much their own way again, notwithstanding they were remarkably quiet last week, and some of them got remarkably weak in the knees. The improvement may be attributed to the fact that the foreign markets are slowly but gradually improving, and the eastern markets, as might naturally be expected, are also better. A private telegram from Oil City this afternoon reported that market firm at $2.50, with more buyers than sellers. The sales here were as follows:

| | |
|---|---|
| 1000 bbls to be delivered on first water | 11 |
| 1000 " " " " | 11 |
| 1000 " " " " | 11½ |
| 1000 " September to December—seller | 11¾ |
| 1000 " October and November | p. t. |
| 2000 " to be delivered in 90 days, buyer | 13 |
| 314 " on the spot | 12½ |
| 500 " first water | p. t. |

REFINED—The market for bonded oil was also much firmer to-day, and the only thing in the way of consummating large sales was the extreme views of holders. Spot oil is in demand, and may be quoted firm at 33c, and but few sellers, even at that figure, and there were buyers for the last four months at 32½c, and it was thought by some that the even 33c might have been obtained. As in the case of the crude market, the "bulls" appear to have it all their own way, and some of the "bears," we understand, are thinking seriously about "standing from under." The sales were:

| | |
|---|---|
| 1000 bbls August—buyer | 32½ |
| 1000 " " " | 32¾ |
| 1000 " on spot | 32¾ |
| 1000 " on spot | 33 |

RIVER NEWS.

The river rose a few inches on Sunday night and yesterday, but unless there is more rain, a resumption of navigation is simply out of the question. The weather yesterday was cool and pleasant, and at times there were indications of more rain.

The Ida Stockdale and Silver Lake are due at St. Louis from Fort Benton. The Minnie, (a Pittsburgh boat) is plying in the St. Louis and Arkansas River trade. The Great Republic is again due at St. Louis from New Orleans.

Capt. Geo. W. Reed, who has been in Cincinnati for several weeks past looking after the steamers Camelia, Columbia and America, arrived home yesterday forenoon. He reports having chartered all of the above named boats to run in packet trades during the low water season, and he had the America and Camelia nicely repainted.

The W. R. Arthur, in charge of Capt. Pepper, a Cincinnati packet captain, was to start to New Orleans Thursday last under the auspices of the Atlantic line.

The Louisville Courier, of Saturday, says: A coal boat tide just now would be desirable, as the stock of coal afloat unsold is very light, and dealers have been asking 16 cents afloat all the week, and have threatened an advance.

The same paper also remarks: Capt. Jake Hazlep, late of the Prima Dona, of Pittsburgh, is announced as Captain of the steamer Commonwealth, at St. Louis. She was to have started to New Orleans Thursday.

Captain Hazlep never had command of the Prima Donna during her career as a Pittsburgh boat. The last boat he commanded here was the Empire City, and during the early part of the rebellion he had charge of the Robt. Fulton, in the New Orleans and Red river trade.

QUARANTINE ON THE ARKANSAS.—We learn that quarantines have been established at the following places in the vicinity of Fort Smith:

At Hays' farm, on the Arkansas river, four miles below Fort Smith. At the Starr farm, three miles above Fort Smith. At a point opposite the city of Fort Smith, in the Cherokee nation. At the Geary farm, in the Choctaw nation, nine miles southwest of Fort Smith, on the Texas road. All steamers, flatboats, or other public or private conveyances, either by land or water, including pedestrians and those traveling on horseback, when recently from places infected with cholera, are required to report at one of the above named points, and submit to such quarantine regulations as are or may be prescribed by the board of health.

The Cincinnati Enquirer, of Saturday, says: The Victor No. 4, small side wheel passenger packet between Portsmouth and Big Sandy, picked up a snag while making a landing at Munn Run, a short distance below Sciotoville, Thursday afternoon, and sunk in about five feet water. The Telegraph brought her passengers back to Portsmouth. She was built in 1864, and owned by Capt. W. B. Scott. She was valued at $14,000, and is insured in the Enterprise and Germania companies of this city for $5000 each. It is thought she can be raised.

In referring to Capt. Brinker's new boat, the Marietta Times of the 25th, remarks:

> We know no reason why steamboat building should not be carried on more extensively in Marietta than it now is. The workmanship on this vessel is evidence of the fact that mechanical skill is not lacking for the construction of first-class steamers. We have timber in abundance, and of the best quality, and our machine shops are equal to any in the State. Besides this, no better point could be selected for a boat yard than the bank of the Ohio river, below the Muskingum, and near the mouth of Mile Run.

A compromise has been effected between the two Upper Mississippi River Packet Companies. The Herald, of Dubuque, says the Phil. Sheridan has made her last trip below for the present. Instead of returning to St. Louis Sunday evening, as we announced, she was hauled off from the lower trade and put in above, taking the place of the Northern Belle which boat is laid up at La Crosse. The Phil. left for St. Paul Sunday morning, instead of the Itasca, the latter laying over until yesterday.

Capt. H. W. Symmes has sold the steamer Dora, at St. Louis, for $12,000, to Captain K. Ledwick.

The recent order of Inspector Guthrie, issued at Evansville, it is claimed, is at variance with the circular issued by the Secretary of the Treasury. Guthrie says none but the America valve must be used, and Secretary McCulloch names fives, any of which are within requirements.

The St. Louis Democrat says: A cotemporary reports that Captain W. H. Symms sold yesterday to Captain Kennedy Lodwick the side-wheel steamer Dora for $12,000. Captain Lodwick intends running her in some of the Southern waters, and has certainly a bargain. We have, only to make one correction—the matter will not be consummated until August first.

The St. Louis and Quincy Packet Company, finding business too heavy for the Mollie McPike, are negotiating for the charter of another commodious stern-wheeler, to run until the arrival of the new packet Tom Jasper.

ST. LOUIS, July 26.—The river decline is steady. The wharfboats and steamboats frequently require the use of their spars to keep themselves off the bank. The Illinois is low above Naples, and rapidly falling there and below. The canal boat towing business of the Illinois is seemingly over for the season. At several places in the Lower Missouri there is not as much water as 5½ feet, and still falling. There was a rush of freight to New Orleans boats yesterday. The Commonwealth and Arthur left last evening with good loads. The Luminary leaves to-day, the Lady Gay and Virginia to-morrow, and other boats in quick succession. There is eight feet water to Keokuk.

BELTING AND PACKING OFFICE OF W. & A. J. PACKARD, Youngstown, Ohio, June 17th, 1867.
Messrs. Burke & Barnes, Pittsburgh, Pa.
GENTLEMEN—We ship you, to-day, by railroad, a safe of your make, for a few repairs. The safe went through the disastrous fire that occurred here on the 6th of March last, burning our store and warehouse, and we are glad to inform you that the papers taken out of the safe after the fire were not harmed in the least. We did not suppose any safe, especially so small a size, could possibly stand such a fire, and when we discovered the papers all safe and sound, we were agreeably disappointed. We will give you an order for a large size safe when we get into our new store. Truly yours,
